Khanh Scores Victory Over U.S., Is Again Viet Nam's Strong Man

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, commander of the Vietnamese armed forces, scored a diplomatic victory over the United States Saturday and emerged once again as the strong man of South Viet Nam.

A communique signed jointly by Khanh, Chief of State Phan Khanh Suu and Premier Tran Van Huong purported to turn all power over to the civilian government — a point for which the United States had pressed.

It also provided for the release of all political prisoners — about 14, counting four members of the defunct High National Council — locked up in the military purge of Dec. 20. This had been another American demand.

But the United States initially had called for two other important points.

The embassy here wanted the generals to backtrack on the dissolution of the High National Council, South Viet Nam's provisional legislature.

More important, the United States wanted guarantees that the military would not step in again, overturning more successive civilian governments.

Neither of those conditions was met in the communique.

An embassy spokesman grumbled that the communique left much to be desired but seemed to be the basis for a Vietnamese government with which the United States could deal. In diplomatic language, this meant the United States would lift its implied threat of the past three weeks to cut aid to Viet Nam.

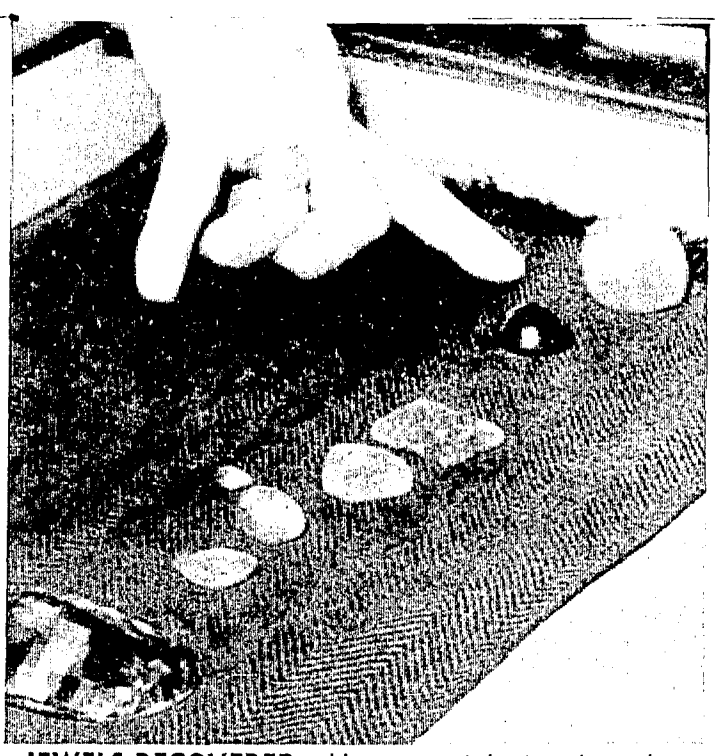

The communique did not specifically reassert civilian authority over the armed forces but merely said that the Aug. 27 communique by Khanh which first turned power over to the civilian government was still in effect.

That communique presumably was in effect Dec. 20 when Khanh virtually toppled the government.

Two days after Khanh's purge, he issued another order of the day saying his junta's actions were "proof of the armed forces' good faith: they have respected their Aug. 27 pledge to turn power over to a civilian government."

In the same order of the day, Khanh in effect told the Americans that if they didn't like what he had done they could pull out and let Viet Nam make its own way.

The bitter antagonism that developed between Khanh and U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, who have not met since Dec. 20, is supposed to have been allayed by assistants.

Tear Gas Used To Halt March On Panama Canal Zone

PANAMA (AP)—National Guardsmen hurled tear gas grenades Saturday to keep about 40 demonstrators from marching on the Panama Canal Zone on the first anniversary of bloody anti-U.S. riots.

About 100 students and labor organization members started the march toward the legislative palace, across the street from the Canal Zone which was a focal point of the 1964 clashes.

National Guardsmen stopped them about a block away. The demonstrators started to disperse, but about 40 of them attempted to stand their ground. Half a dozen grenades of tear gas put them to rout, the whole area was cleared, and traffic returned to normal.

The group was among 1,500 marchers who had paraded to the National Cemetery and the grave of Ascanio Arosemena, the student who was the first to die in the rioting that took the lives of four Americans and 21 Panamanians.

The marchers carried anti-U.S. and antigovernment banners and chanted slogans. Among the marchers were persons either officially named as Communists or known to be members of the party.

As the procession marched past the legislative plaza in sight of the Canal Zone the students redoubled their anti-U.S. chanting. At Santa Ana Plaza, a handful of marchers tore down the carnival flag raised last week. The carnival starts late in February.

Plans to carry empty coffins symbolizing the Panamanian dead did not materialize. The streets were lined with spectators on the march to the cemetery.

AMA Urges Insurance For Aged, Public, Private Funds Sharing Cost

CHICAGO (AP) — The American Medical Association came out Saturday with a proposed program of health care for the aged and stated it would give elderly citizens far more than the administration's medicare plan.

Dr. Donovan F. Ward, president of the AMA, hit out at President Johnson's more for health insurance for the senior citizens linked to the Social Security system.

He said that program would give the people "far less than they expect," and "have a disastrous effect on the quality" of hospital and medical treatment.

Under the AMA proposal, Blue Cross and Blue Shield and other health insurance companies would provide policies to protect the elderly against the costs of illness.

Public and private funds would share the cost, according to each recipient's income.

Under the new program, an over-65 citizen would purchase through an insurance company a "wide spectrum of medical, surgical and hospital benefits," and would pay all or none of the cost of the policy, depending on his income," Ward set forth in a statement.

"For individuals with income under the specified minimum," the state agency, using federal and state funds, would pay the entire cost.

other resources of the applicant. But Ward called for congressional action to make some changes. He suggested amendment of the present law to permit citizens over 65 to submit a "simple information return to the appropriate state agency outlining income from all sources."

"On the basis of this return alone," he said, "an individual with income within limits set by the states would immediately become eligible for benefits."

Ward said the AMA program "would provide far more to our elderly citizens than is proposed in the administration's medicare tax program."

"Aid would consist of comprehensive health care benefits, rather than being limited to hospital and nursing home care representing only a fraction of the cost of sickness."

"Benefits for eligible recipients would include not only payment of hospital and nursing home charges, but also payment of medical, surgical and drug costs."

He also pointed out that it would operate within the established insurance system, private insurance companies would administer it, and it would make use of existing insurance and prepayment plans in which millions of Americans are enrolled.

The AMA labeled its proposal a sound and workable program that would accomplish "far more" than medicare, "with none of the attendant evils of unpredictable expense, invasion of medical practice by the federal bureaucracy or disruption of the private health insurance industry by the government."

U.S. Officer Dies Calling For Help During Red Attack

MY YEN, South Viet Nam (AP)—A young West Point graduate died Saturday calling for reinforcements during a Communist attack on this outpost only 10 miles from Saigon. The gunfire was heard clearly in the capital.

Help came, but it was only from the air — and it was too late. The Viet Cong had cut off ground approaches and stymied nearby artillery support.

U.S. advisers expressed the belief that scores of other Americans with small Vietnamese units scattered in the provinces around Saigon and involved in a major pacification program are faced with the same fate.

"We have dozens of little units doing little jobs," one adviser said. "But when these units get hit hard there are not enough forces around to come to their assistance. They are on their own, like My Yen Saturday morning."

The U.S. lieutenant killed in the fight was with a 100-man unit giving security for a portion of "Operation Hop Tac," a top priority pacification project fully backed by Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam.

(In Washington the Army identified the officer killed in outpost fighting as Lt. William T. Reach, whose widow Rosemary lives at 461 E. 187th St., the Bronx, N.Y., and whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Reach, live at 88 Rogers Park Drive, Ormand Beach, Fla.)

The Viet Cong swarmed out of the paddy fields and swept through My Yen at 3 a.m. The lieutenant, a U.S. Army sergeant later wounded, and the regular Vietnamese troops with them fought for their lives.

Barrages of Viet Cong fire preceded the attack, demolishing the old two-story French concrete villa serving as a command post.

A radio set cracked to life in the battalion command post 2½ miles away.

"We have to evacuate the building. Send in the huys!" yelled the U.S. lieutenant. The huys are armed helicopters.

That was the last anyone heard from him. They found his body in front of the smashed command post at daybreak, draped over a foxhole. He appeared to have been killed at close range by small arms fire.

Traffic Death Toll In 1964 At All-Time High

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic death toll zoomed to a record high in 1964.

That was made clear in the National Safety Council's announcement Saturday that such fatalities numbered 43,390 in the first 11 months of last year — only 210 shy of the record of 43,600 set in the full year of 1963.

A spokesman estimated that, when the December tally is made, the 1964 total will be lifted to approximately 48,000.

There was no sign of a break in the trend in the early days of 1965. Motor vehicle fatalities during the three-day New Year celebration soared to 474, the highest ever reported for a turn-of-the-year holiday period.

The council estimated that in the first 11 months of last year 1.5 million Americans suffered injuries that disabled them beyond the day of the traffic accident, and a similar number got off with lesser injuries.

Malaysia Foils Landing, Shoots Indonesian Boat

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — A Malaysian warship shot an Indonesian tugboat out of the water Saturday as it tried to land guerrillas only about 50 miles north of Kuala Lumpur. Sixteen Indonesians were captured. Informed sources said 40 to 50 may have drowned.

The patrol ship Sri Perak came upon the tugboat shortly after midnight as it headed toward the west coast city of Port Dickson with another boat in tow.

The Straits Times said an undetermined number of raiders landed Saturday night at Kota Tinggi, some 180 air miles south of Kuala Lumpur, and 12 were captured. Defense Ministry officials could not be reached for comment.

If the report is correct, it would be the third attempted landing by Indonesia in the past 36 hours.

Friday, two dozen raiders armed with light weapons and grenades landed on the southern tip of the mainland near Singapore and police and troops rounded up 13 with little resistance. Four of the prisoners were seized in a small boat. They were apparently trying to escape back to Indonesia.

The prisoners included the leader of the group, Maj. Abu Talib Nin Osman. He is the highest-ranking Indonesian guerrilla commander captured to date.

Prime Minister Abdul Rahman made a flying visit to the scene of this landing. He told reporters he learned the invaders were equipped with dum-dum bullets, banned by international law. A dum-dum bullet expands when it enters the body.

LIZ GOES ON LOCATION TO WATCH BURTON

LONDON (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Taylor went on location Saturday in London to watch the man she says she wants to give up her American citizenship for — husband Richard Burton.

Miss Taylor, 32, went with Burton when he began work on a movie.

The London-born actress, who has dual British-American nationality, now wants to be exclusively British like Burton.

Propose Merging Air Reserves Into Air Guard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force staff has recommended merging all Air Reserve squadrons into the Air National Guard. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is expected to announce the merger next week.

The result will be a single streamlined backup of the regular Air Force — an expanded Air Guard of some 112,000 men.

The Associated Press learned Saturday that the staff recommendation was sent formally to Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert on Friday. It was due to be forwarded to McNamara promptly. His approval is virtually certain.

The staff recommendation, made without reservation and after months of study, ran counter to the long-held views of Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, outgoing Air Force chief of staff. LeMay strongly opposed eliminating the Air Reserve structure.

Jerry Replaces Charley In GOP's Weekly TV Show

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "Ev and Jerry Show" premieres on Capitol Hill Monday with old trouper Everett M. Dirksen sharing the spotlight with a new costar, the photogenic Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan.

Last year Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana shared centerstage with Dirksen as they met the press weekly, and before television cameras, glibly at the Democrats.

But in the wake of President Johnson's landslide victory over Barry Goldwater last fall, house Republicans began talking of a new image. This week they dumped Halleck, 64, in favor of Ford, a 51-year-old former football player.

Senate Republicans seem perfectly satisfied with Dirksen, who was 69 Monday.

Price Of Gold Soars

Confidence In U.S. Dollar, British Pound Threatened

NEW YORK (AP)—International speculation last week pushed the price of gold to a two-year high, threatening to shake world confidence in the U.S. dollar and the British pound sterling.

France touched off the speculation by announcing plans to convert $150 million of its holdings into gold. At the end of the week Great Britain and the United States were attempting to kill the speculation.

"Any speculation against the basic price of gold," warned the U.S. Treasury, in an unusual statement Friday night, "would inevitably end on the losing side."

The Treasury said the entire U.S. gold stock was available to support the dollar in international markets at the basic price of $35 an ounce.

For the record, all three governments contended the planned French transaction was routine and that speculation was unwarranted. But behind the scenes financiers saw what they described as a conflict of interest between the French action and international regard for the dollar and the pound. The pound already had been under heavy international economic pressure since November.

"In other words," said one banker, "France may believe it stands to gain in this situation. Britain and the United States surely stand to lose if confidence is shaken in their currencies."

The price of gold last Monday in London was $35.1375 an ounce — a penny less than it was at the end of 1964.

But by Tuesday strong rumors were coming from the French government that it intended to exchange more dollars for gold at the U.S.-set rate of $35 an ounce, instead of using its dollar accumulation to make a prepayment on some $650 million in debt it owes the United States from post World War II Marshall Plan loans.

By Wednesday morning the price was $35.1275. Later that day rumors placed the French dollar-for-gold exchange at $400 million. The price of gold was up to $35.13625 Thursday morning.

Thursday afternoon the French announced their exchange would be $150 million. Though the figure was below the rumored $400 million, the announcement contributed to the rising gold price. On Friday the price hit $35.17.

The previous high was near $35.20 during the Cuban missile crisis in 1962. In 1960 the price of gold once reached $40 in a period of hard speculation.

HUNGARIAN WOMEN BUY BEAUTY AIDS

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — The four million Hungarian women and teen-age girls spent 1,100 million forints — $100 million at the official rate — for cosmetics last year, reports the paper Esti Hirlap.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The use of material and faulty inspection procedure.

—A spot check of pipe joints in the non-nuclear part of the Thresher was made before she left for her last voyage after overhaul and "if the quality of the joints so inspected was representative of all the Thresher's silver-brazed joints this means that the ship had several hundred substandard joints when she last went to sea."

Like the findings made by a Navy court of inquiry after the Thresher sank on April 10, 1963, after sailing from her building place at the Portsmouth, N.H., Navy yard, the congressional committee said the specific cause for the sinking is not known.

But the committee's report narrowed the focus of suspicion down to the method of connecting pipes which entered from the outside of the hull and which were under tremendous pressure in deep submergence.

A foreword by the committee chairman, Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., said technical specifications requirements for the nuclear power compartment and for the non-nuclear part of the ship were not greatly different but adherence to the specifications was far more strict in the nuclear portion.

Testimony included that by Vice Adm. H. G. Rickover, pioneer in nuclear power for submarines and other navy ships, who said that:

—In recent years, "several submarines, both nuclear and conventional, came close to being lost" because of defects in design, workmanship, improper

Closes Piers From Maine To Texas

NEW YORK (AP)—Asst. Secretary of Labor James R. Reynolds tried Saturday to bridge a gap between longshoremen and their union leaders but said he saw little possibility of staying off a costly dock strike at 12:01 a.m. Monday.

"I believe a strike in the longshore industry is a distinct possibility," Reynolds said after he arrived here from Washington.

He said he carried no message from President Johnson to union and shipping officials. But he said the President was being kept informed of all developments by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

Speaking on behalf of Wirtz, Reynolds expressed "grave concern" that a strike in Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports would have "a potentially serious impact on the economy of the country at a time when it is enjoying high levels of activity."

Shippers planned to ask President Johnson for congressional intervention compelling arbitration if dock workers walk off as scheduled.

President Thomas W. Gleason of the AFL-CIO International Longshoremen's Association formally notified union locals in ports from Maine to Texas that New York members turned down the settlement pact and would strike.

By long-standing custom, a strike here would halt work by 60,000 to 70,000 longshoremen on piers of the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

"We all work together or we stop together," Gleason said.

Even as he announced the ending conference with Reynolds, Gleason said nothing could be done to head off the walkout.

"The strike is a foregone conclusion," he said.

Stung by the 8,722 to 7,957 vote rejecting a settlement he considers the best the union has ever negotiated, Gleason sought to explain the development: "I don't think that the men recognized the amount of security gained in this contract."

Gleason called union vice presidents to a meeting Monday to determine strike policy and "find out what the men really want and what it will take now to satisfy them."

Reynolds personally was involved for some five months hammering out the agreement which the New York pier workers rejected. It had loomed as a solution to an old and bitter stand-off between the union and the New York Shipping Association over automation.

In return for gradually reducing work gang size from 20 men to 17 men over a four-year period, the union was guaranteed a minimum annual wage and given an 80-cent hourly increase in wages and benefits spread over the period. New York longshoremen, whose contract forms the master pattern for the East and South, currently are paid $3.25 an hour.

The federal government exhausted strike-delaying legal procedures in the current dispute. The union struck for one day Oct. 1 but was ordered back to work for an 80-day cooling off period under the Taft-Hartley Act while negotiators sought settlement. The talks led to the agreement Dec. 16 — now rejected.

The last previous contract dispute resulted in a 34-day dock strike in December 1962 and January 1963.

France Being Studied By Junior Club

In accordance with a 20th District, IFWC project, the Jacksonville Junior Woman's Club is holding study sessions this month on the country of France. The first session was held at the home of Miss Carole Ann McNamara, chairman, who is also an instructor of French at Illinois College and a member of the Junior club.

Miss McNamara conducted a photographic tour of Paris using slides with corresponding commentary. Well known historical landmarks were included as well as views of the French people. An interesting discussion included facts about transportation, lodging, cafes and French restaurants.

Famed French cuisine was illustrated with the serving of Quiche Lorraine with white wine during the refreshment hour.

At the next study session other geographical parts of France will be included with discussion of the educational system and woman's role in that popular nation.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Freeland for the past 17 years operators of Freeland's Apple orchard just east of Mt. Sterling, announce that they have sold their business to George A. Clark, an R.E.A. employee. Mr. Clark and his family plan to move to the Freeland residence about March 1 and assume the operation then. Mr. and Mrs. Freeland plan temporarily to move into Mt. Sterling.

Miss Janet Rose Kleinlein, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Kleinlein of Mt. Sterling is a member of the chapel choir at Illinois Wesleyan University, produced a potentially dangerous situation.

State and federal health authorities estimate that at least 70% or more of the dogs in a community must be vaccinated to set up an effective barrier against rabies in wildlife. Once rabies is acquired by any animal or human, and not treated immediately, there is no cure and the disease is fatal; prevention is the only sure method.

Vaccine Free
The Morgan county health department supplies rabies vaccine to physicians without cost for use in those humans exposed by animal bites or otherwise to rabies.

In case an animal bites a human, the person should immediately seek medical treatment.

Meyer stated that the administration of rabies vaccine is not entirely without risk since rather serious neurological reactions have been known to occur following the use of the vaccine, but this risk compared to rabies is slight.

The Illinois Rabies law requires that all dogs not confined at all times be vaccinated against rabies. This law provides for the catching and impounding of all dogs running at large and not wearing evidence of inoculation.

Authorities hope that a program of education will produce the needed cooperation of the public in getting all dogs vaccinated.

To Enforce Laws
However, Mrs. Joanne Gross Delichmann, D.V.M., county rabies inspector, and Lester Oettle, Jacksonville dog officer, who support this program, stress that a program of strict enforcement will be necessary for those who fail to comply with the law.

Rabies is a disease that can be defeated. It has been completely wiped out in England and the Scandinavian countries through concentrated individual and community action.

Health department authorities advise that the film, "Rabies Control in the Community" will be shown to adult groups upon request.

DRIVER CITED AFTER TWO-CAR ACCIDENT
One driver was cited late Friday night after the car he was driving struck a second auto at the intersection of West Morgan and Kosciusko.

Police issued a ticket to Danny Northrup of route three, Winchester for failure to yield the right-of-way.

Officers reported that Northrup's car, westbound on Morgan, struck a southbound vehicle on Kosciusko, driven by Henry B. Adams of 128 Chestnut.

Property owned by Howard Odaffer of 853 Hardin avenue was damaged about 10:45 p.m., when a southbound car on Hardin went out of control, jumped a curb and drove over the property.

Police officers reported that a car driven by Merle E. Lambert of route two, Jerseyville apparently hit a slick spot on the pavement.

Lambert said he was unable to regain control of the car before it went into a ditch next to the street and then up through the yard at 853 Hardin. No tickets were issued at the scene.

Rabies Education Program To Begin In Local Schools

The Morgan county health department, in cooperation with school authorities, will begin a program this week to inform school children on the dangers of rabies.

Dr. James W. Chapman, county health director, said Friday that all school children will be shown a film, "Rabies Control in the Community," and will be given information about rabies.

The program will continue until April.

William D. Meyer, county sanitarian, will present these programs in the schools. Meyer stated that the low incident of dog vaccinations, plus the fact that several positive cases of rabies have been identified, has produced a potentially dangerous situation.

State and federal health authorities estimate that at least 70% or more of the dogs in a community must be vaccinated to set up an effective barrier against rabies in wildlife. Once rabies is acquired by any animal or human, and not treated immediately, there is no cure and the disease is fatal; prevention is the only sure method.

WHAT'S ELECTROLYSIS?

There are few things more embarrassing to a woman than a patch of unwanted hair on her face. A superfluous growth of hair on her upper lip or on her cheek usually causes extreme self-consciousness and unhappiness.

Generally a result of heredity or caused by glandular disturbances or changes, the hair can be removed several ways. It can be shaved off, erased by a depilatory, abrasive or waxing, or removed by tweezing. However, all of these methods are temporary and must be repeated frequently to keep the hair under control. There is only one permanent way of doing the job and that's by electrolysis.

In electrolysis the papilla, which is source of the hair's life, is destroyed thus killing hair's growth. The latest method of electrolysis that has been perfected is called thermolysis, it operates via a short wave machine, the principle of which is to coagulate the hair papilla by high frequency current.

WSCS TO REMODEL BLUFFS METHODIST CHURCH BASEMENT

BLUFFS — The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Bluffs Methodist Church met Thursday afternoon in Fellowship Hall with Mrs. Paul Vannier, Mrs. Cornelia Leonard and Mrs. Florence Brackett as hostesses. Mrs. Brackett was unable to attend.

Mrs. Paul B. Smith presided at the meeting opening with a prayer.

Mrs. Smith, a member of the committee for remodeling the church kitchen, gave a report on the progress being made and the plans for the project which is getting underway this week. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary pro-tem, Mrs. Margaret Watson. Thank you were read from Mrs. Bessie Wilson, Mrs. Agnes Pine, Chaddock Boys School and Evenglo Lodge.

Announcement was made of the annual District meeting to be held at the Vermont Street Methodist church on April 9.

The study class on "Genesis" was announced and members and friends are welcome. The first session was at 7:30 p.m. Thursday and the next session will be held at the church January 14.

Mrs. Thelma Barnett was the lesson leader, the theme "Hearing God Speak Through the Bible." She was assisted by all members present. Mrs. Vannier closed the lesson with a solo.

The meeting was adjourned following the reading of a poem, "The Importance of Loving God," by Mrs. Barnett.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

NIGHT SIGHT—The new Verrazano Narrows Bridge presents a striking sight at night. River pilots see the bridge lights some 228 feet above the water from miles away as they approach. Some of this night effect is the result of 262 100 watt mercury lamps which dot the two tremendous support cables.

Helena Rubinstein tells...

Why some women look young at 50 while others look old at 35

Facts about beauty after 35; how Ultra Feminine face cream reduces lines and wrinkles due to dryness, starts you looking younger today.

Just as some girls reach adolescence at 12, others at 14 or later, you and I know that women show signs of age at different times, some as early as 35, while others seem forever young. The difference depends greatly on each woman's skin and body chemistry, and her supply of estrogen and progesterone, natural substances plentiful in youth, but diminished in later years.

Why No Face Cream Can Duplicate the Ultra Feminine Formula
Because there are no substitutes for estrogen and progesterone when nature's supply declines, we sought to return these substances to aging skin with Ultra Feminine—an exclusive, patented formula. It is the only face cream with both of these female requisites.

What Ultra Feminine Does to Make You Look Younger

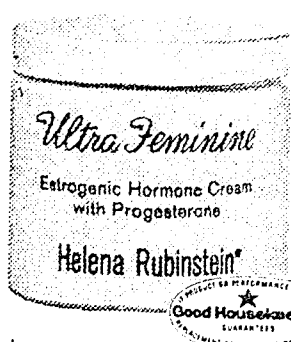

Ultra Feminine replenishes estrogen and progesterone, which cannot be stored by your skin. With daily use, your oil glands produce at a more youthful rate. Skin cells can hold maximum moisture. Lines and wrinkles due to oil and moisture loss are reduced, younger skin tone is restored. And you look younger! No other face cream at any price can make these claims for effectiveness! You'll agree with me, no woman over 35 should ever be without Ultra Feminine.

The Ultra Feminine Guarantee

Ultra Feminine® is guaranteed to make you look younger in 30 days, or money back.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (AP) — A heavy run of slaughter steers and butcher hogs arrived at the Chicago market last week but prices were steady to higher on good demand.

The week's run of 37,000 cattle was the heaviest since late October and the run of 35,000 hogs was the largest since early December.

Despite the increase in receipts, slaughter steers and butchers sold higher under the bullish influence of higher wholesale dressed beef prices.

The average cost of steers last week was estimated at $23.90 compared with $23.45 the previous week and $22.77 a year ago. The top price of $26.25 a hundredweight was reached every day but Thursday when the top was $24.50.

Slaughter steers were strong to mostly 25 cents a hundredweight higher than on the meager supply of Dec. 31.

Barrows and gilts were steady to 50 cents higher. The top price of $17.50 was reached both on Thursday and Friday.

The primary price stimulating factor in the week's live hog trade was a sharply higher trend for pork at the wholesale level.

The week's supply of sheep totaled 2,300 head, a decline of 100 from the preceding week. Slaughter lambs were fully 50 cents higher, wooled slaughter ewes were steady and the week's top price of $22.50 was paid only on Friday.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market last week, aided materially by President Johnson's State of the Union message, put on its best rally in seven weeks.

Not since the week ended Nov. 21, when the market went to historic peaks before retreating in concern over rising interest rates, had the list put on such a powerful performance.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks last week made a net gain of 3.3 at 327.4. This was its biggest rise since the week ended Nov. 21 when it rose 4.5.

Volume in the week was 23,334,940 shares compared with 20,560,810 for the four-day trading week previous, shortened by the New Year holiday.

The gains in the averages were born out by other statistics. Of 1,541 issues traded, gainers outnumbered losers by the wide margin of 979 to 417.

Part of the reason for the market's strength, according to Wall Street sources, was the desire of big institutional investors such as mutual and pension funds and insurance companies to reinvest idle cash resulting from profit taking and tax-loss selling in the dying stages of the 1964 market.

Shares of gold and silver mining companies—as well as smaller oil companies thought of as possibilities for takeover by larger ones—were prominent in the market.

The outflow of gold holdings, highlighted by France's conversion of some of its dollar holdings, continued of concern to Wall Street.

Bond markets welcomed the New Year last week with a flurry of trading and advancing prices. Treasury bond prices were up through most of the list.

On the New York Stock Exchange corporate bond volume for the week totaled a par value of $42,498 million, compared to a much smaller turnover a week ago, when trading was reduced because of the New Year's holiday.

Injured Pilot Crawls Miles To Send Aid To Man

THE PAS, Man. (AP) — A pilot, walking and crawling with a broken ankle, reached civilization Friday and alerted rescuers in time to save one of two passengers in his crashed plane. The other passenger was dead.

Lyle Gibson, 23, of The Pas crossed 12 miles of remote snow-covered country in temperatures that dipped to 30 below in 20-mile-an-hour winds to reach a spillway station near the community of Grand Rapids, 250 miles north of Winnipeg.

There a young Indian and his companion found Gibson, who broke his ankle when his plane crashed Thursday, on the floor next to an electric heater.

His word on the plane's location was passed quickly to search parties, who found one Manitoba telephone system employee alive but severely frostbitten and another dead.

Gibson and Fred Ward, 32, of The Pas underwent treatment in a hospital here and were in good condition. Arrangements were being made to move the body of Don Snider, 55, home to The Pas.

Jack Lamb, one of six brothers who operate Lam Airways in this northwestern Manitoba town, said Gibson was flying a Cessna 180 with telephone employees aboard towards Grand Rapids early Thursday.

Over Cedar Lake, or more than halfway along the 94-mile wilderness route, Gibson reported by radio everything was fine. That was the last heard from him.

Lamb said Gibson flew into a "white-out" — a condition existing in snow or haze when no horizon can be seen — over Cross Lake, about 12 miles west of Grand Rapids.

He said Gibson tried to get back to where he could see the tree line, but his left wing hit the ground, and the plane rolled up in a pile.

Lamb said Gibson, with his broken ankle, "crawled until his feet froze, then walked on the stumps."

Greg Lamb, one of Jack's brothers said Gibson apparently walked and crawled up the side of a dike about 60 feet high to get to the spillway shack and broke a window in the door to get in.

JHS Upset 60-57, Clan And Blueboys Beaten

Free Throws Hurt In Second Defeat

DECATUR—A season-long nemesis came home to haunt the highly-rated Jacksonville Crims here Saturday night, as a fired-up Decatur MacArthur outplayed a strong second-half to upset the Jacks, 60-57, in a Capitol Conference game.

The loss, which snapped a six-game Jacksonville winning streak, was helped along by the Crims' inability to hit clutch free throws in the second half.

The Jacks missed ten of 31 attempts from 15 feet, but five of these were clutch one and one opportunities at crucial points when JHS was surging from behind in an attempt to make up small deficits.

The turning point in the game came early in the third quarter when MacArthur outscored the visitors 15-1 in one stretch and piled up a 17-9 period difference.

Down by eight points in the final two minutes, Jacksonville still had a chance to catch up but missed three charity throws in the remaining time plus three shots from the field which would have narrowed the lead, as MacArthur also had trouble at the gift line.

MacArthur, which entered the game with a mediocre 6-5 record to Jacksonville's sparkling 10-1 mark, played like a state-ranked team from the beginning of the second half to wipe out a three-point Crim lead at halftime.

Neither team was ever more than eight points in front in the closing tilt, the final time being when MacArthur spurred ahead in the final stanza.

First Quarter Close
The lead changed hands seven times in the first half and the game was tied twice in the closing tilt. Following an early five points in the third round, MacArthur pulled away to command and Jacksonville never got closer than two the rest of the way.

The Crims suffered their coldest shooting night of the season from the field, hitting only 33% for the evening, as compared to MacArthur's 44% rate.

The first frame was tight all the way, as the lead changed hands three times and the period had one tie. A late 20-footer by Creston Whitaker put the Jacks on top at the end of the round, 12-10.

Jacksville lost the services of 6-6 center Steve Bone with three fouls early in the second quarter, as the two outfits stayed close.

The Crims held three short leads but each time Decatur came back to tie or take the edge. Buckets by Ron Coleman and Dean Hess from outside kept JHS in the running. Two charity throws each by Coleman and Hess and a late 15-footer by Jim Mann gave the visitors a slim 26-23 margin at intermission.

Big Man Hurts
Jacksonville was given trouble all night by MacArthur's 6-7 senior playing his first year of ball, center Floyd Campbell, who scored ten points in the first half and was largely responsible for the Generals' edge in rebounding. MacArthur rebounded JHS in the first half, 18-11, and for the game 32-22.

The Crims started off the second half as if they were going to pull away, as a bucket by Coleman, two free throws by Hess and one by Whitaker gave

IC Loses In 2nd Half, Falls 80-70

ELMHURST — A hot streak by Elmhurst after intermission pushed the Bluejays into a decisive lead after a close first half as the Illinois College Blueboys took an 80-70 road defeat here Saturday evening.

The visiting Blueboys held several leads in the first half, which was close all the way, but Elmhurst's Leo Boughton and John Dancy broke the game open early in the second 20 minutes.

The two combined for 17 points in the first eight minutes as Elmhurst broke from a three-point margin at halftime to a sizeable 14 points bulge twice.

Dan Runkle's 14 points in the final ten minutes of the tilt kept the Blueboys within range until the closing minutes when Elmhurst protected their edge and won going away.

IC jumped off to an early 14-7 edge before Elmhurst caught up at 19-19. Phil Coble's bucket gave the Blueboys a short lead but Elmhurst came back to take the lead for the first time at 24-23 on a three-point play by Dancy and added to it on a bucket by Roger Rumpf.

The closest the visitors got in the second half was at 39-38 before Boughton, who hit 43 against IC in an earlier game, and Dancy began clicking from outside, and the Bluejays raced to a 14-point bulge.

From their IC got no closer than ten on a bucket by John Covey with 4:40 remaining in the contest.

For the game Elmhurst connected on 41.5% of their shots, 50% in the second half, as compared to IC's mediocre 32.5%.

Harold Kund led the losers with 16, followed by Runkle's 14, while Boughton and Dancy hit 23 apiece for Elmhurst.

Illinois College is now 1-5 for the campaign.

McKendree Edges MacMurray 84-79

By DAVE INGLES

Clutch free throw shooting by McKendree, coupled with MacMurray's inability to hit from under the basket, enabled the Bearcats to hand the Clan its seventh defeat in ten games Saturday night, 84-79.

McKendree hit on 11 of 12 charity throws in the final four minutes to ice the win as five different players hit with deadly accuracy. The Highlanders on the other hand, missed five tip-ins and three layups in the closing minutes to assure the visitors of victory.

The game was close throughout, and was tied on nine different occasions. During the first twenty minutes the largest lead in favor of the Bearcats, MacMurray, trailing for the first 18 minutes, knotted the count at 30-30 with 3:15 to go on a drive by Harry Matheny. The senior forward, who came off the bench just prior to his game-tying bucket, tallied two more quick goals to send the Clan ahead, 34-32. The teams then traded baskets until the gun, with the score tied 38-38 at the intermission.

Sophomore center Bryan Phegley came off the bench midway through the period and scored 10 points to lead the Clan. Matheny and starting forward Tom Zurkammer each added 8 in the opening stanza.

Tied Three Times
In the early minutes of the second half the count was even three different times before McKendree broke open a 57-50 lead with 6 minutes gone on a layup by Chuck Garrett. Three minutes later two free tosses and a charity toss by Matheny brought Mac to within one of the Bearcats, 59-58, but again the visitors spurred away.

A pair of layups by Lester Long and a jumper each from Garrett and Larry Richardson ran the McKendree lead to 67-58 before the Clan made their final rally. Jim Hargrave led the surge, notching two jumpers and a driving layup to bring the score to 71-69 in the visitors favor, but again the Cats pulled away.

Going Gets Rough
With four minutes to play the going got rough, and McKendree started their free throw barrage. Two Bearcats, Highlander Dennis Beard fouled out, and one player from each squad was bounced as a result of a small scuffle. The Clan missed repeated opportunities under the basket during this time and could not tie it up. With 46 seconds remaining, and the count at 82-79, Hargrave missed a long jumper and Phegley missed the tip. The Cats got the rebound and controlled the ball until the end of the win.

The smaller Highlanders rebounded McKendree, 58-53, 30-all with 3:15 to go on a drive by Harry Matheny. DRAG STRIP START—AI Dinkel, YMCA director, stands behind the two 12-volt batteries at the start of the slot car racing club's drag strip. The strip, 55' in length, was constructed in sections and is erected on top of tables in the Y building.

BUSINESS SIDE OF CAR—The underneath of the slot racing car shows the business side of the car, powered by a small DC motor and a 12-volt battery via copper tape around the track. Braided wire brushes on the front of the car pick up the current.

Slot Car Racing New Fad

Playing cars is no longer a dirt pile proposition in the backyard.

Operating on the same principle as the electric train, "slot cars" are fast becoming popular with today's youth and hobbyists of all ages.

Plastic, metal and wood models of hot rods, Grand Prix cars and dragsters, of 1/25 and 1/32 scale are available in kit form complete with the small DC motor, or are fashioned from plans.

There are generally two track styles, the drag strip and the road course.

The propelling force is a 12-volt battery attached to the track layout. The number of lanes on the track vary according to the owners' pocketbook.

Two pieces of copper tape, one on each side of the slot for negative and positive current, carry the power around the track. The slot, approximately one-half inch deep, is in the middle of the copper tapes.

On the front of each car is the contact to fill the slot, made of plastic, and a two braided wire brushes on the front of the car pick up the current.

Motor Components—The current is then directed to the motor which contains an armature, brushes, commutator and magnet.

Current to the cars is controlled by a small endstop, which is hand-held and generally operated with the thumb on plunger. Speed is determined by pressing the plunger and releasing it for slower speeds.

Top "world" speed record is held by a California dragster, which reached 199.9 actual miles per hour at a national race for models.

Approximately 60 boys are members of the local slot racing club, sponsored by the YMCA.

Two tracks, which were constructed by AI Dinkel of the Y out of old ping pong tables and donations from various merchants and lumber yards, provide club members with each style of racing.

The road course is composed of four lanes, 55 feet in length, which winds up and down hills and around 90 degree turns.

For drag strip racers, the two lane track is the same length and is provided power by two batteries which can generate 12, 24 or 36 volts to the cars, depending on the engine size.

Club advisor is Bob Tendick, who is also a local distributor of model car kits.

Prices Of Cars Vary—The price of the kits range from $4.50 upward, but most of the members agreed it is easily possible to spend $20 to $30 before a modeler has a top notch entry.

The local Y slot racing club, which meets from 7-9 p.m. on Wednesday, is about a year old, Dinkel said, and the style of racing alternates from week to week.

Each type of racing has its own special designed rules and laws governing time trials and races.

Styles of cars are also put into separate racing categories; a 1/32 scale model races against another of the same size.

Ingenuity is one of the main forces for more power from the tiny motors.

Faster cars are fostered by changing gear ratios, adding a second motor, including soft rubber tires, attaching lighter bodies, installing ball bearings, or by exploiting electrical possibilities in the engine.

One club member developed a drag racer that changed gears when the engine reached different revolutions.

Simple and highly technical lessons in electricity and elementary automotive wiring is valuable if the spark of curiosity is there.

Potential For Future—Although model slot car racing is a fad for the younger set, the young at heart, passionate car owners of the future may someday "control" instead of drive their full-size autos.

Highways, which will be laid out with electrical lanes, similar to those used in slot racing, will be controlled by central dispatching units all in the interest of interest of greater highway miles per hour at a national safety.

Expects Solution To Signing Problem

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Corbett, chairman of the NCAA's professional-relations committee, predicted Saturday that the problem of premature signing of college football players by pro leagues can be solved in a friendly fashion.

Corbett, the Louisiana State University athletic director who is here for the NCAA convention which formally opens Monday, said he conferred at length with Pete Rozelle, the National Football League commissioner, Friday night.

"I think something can be done and we will have the cooperation of the pros," Corbett said. "I think we are on the right road."

"It is this simple. We all live here. The high schools, the colleges and the pros. We have to live here and we have to learn together. That we will do."

Corbett said the meeting with Rozelle, which took place in a Chicago airport lounge while the NFL commissioner was en route to San Francisco, was "an excellent spirit of cooperation. It was realistic and progressive."

Corbett declined, however, to answer direct questions on just what he and Rozelle discussed, pleading that such announcements would be "premature and presumptuous at this time."

No Questions Yet—Corbett said he would not be able to spell out any questions taken up until he has a chance to meet with his committee, consisting of Len Casanova of Oregon, who walked away from a coaching job in Honolulu's Hula Bowl because premature pro signings were scheduled to play, and Dave Nelson of Delaware.

Corbett said he had not yet talked with Commissioner Joe Foss or any other representative of the American Football League, adding that he hoped to do that Saturday night or Sunday.

"I think we will have something positive in two days," Corbett said. "I feel we will accomplish something at this convention."

The whole problem—one of three major issues expected to arise at the convention—came up when four Oklahoma football players signed pro contracts before playing in the Gator Bowl game Jan. 2. They were declared ineligible for the game.

2 Declared Ineligible—Two of them, back Jim Grisham and tackle Ralph Neely, were at first declared ineligible for the Hula Bowl and then returned to the roster.

Neely originally signed with

Houston of the AFL, then signed a second pact with Dallas of the NFL. Grisham signed with Minnesota of the NFL.

NCAA regulations prohibit a player from appearing in any NCAA-sanctioned event after he has signed a pro contract.

The other major items expected to come up are the long-standing, complex struggle between the NCAA and AAU, and a proposed bylaw making it mandatory for a prospective athlete to have a predicted 1.6 grade point average on a 4.0 system to be eligible for grants in aid.

West Favored Over The East In Pro Bowl—LOS ANGELES (AP) — The West, led by Baltimore quarterback Johnny Unitas, will be favored over the East when the finest talent in the National Football League performs in the 15th annual Pro Bowl game Sunday.

Clear, cool weather was promised and the crowd may exceed the record attendance of 72,250 set in 1959.

The game, closing out the long NFL campaign, will be nationally televised by NBC, starting at 4 p.m., EST.

The West, which leads in the series 9-5, has been the slender favorite from the outset, a matter that puzzles the East in view of two quite recent events — the Cleveland Browns' 27-0 shutout over the Baltimore Colts for the NFL championship, and the St. Louis Cardinal triumph over the Green Bay Packers, 24-17, in the Playoff Bowl in Miami a week ago.

In the title game, of course, it was Cleveland quarterback Frank Ryan, playing his finest hour, outshining the brilliant Unitas.

This is a game of pride and prestige. The players are selected by the coaches of the Eastern and Western Divisions of the league, along with Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

The West, led by Unitas, won the 1964 contest 31-17.

Indiana Races To 86-73 League Win In 1st Half

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana hit 20 straight free throws and raced to an easy 86-73 victory over Northwestern Saturday.

The victory evened Indiana's Big Ten Basketball record at 1-1 and brought the Hoosiers' season mark to 10-1. The game was moved to an 8-3 halftime lead on a 34-yard pass play, Berry to Jeff Jordan of Tulsa.

Elkins returned a punt 76 yards in the third quarter to put the South on top 9-8.

Morton passed to Elkins for the second touchdown on a play covering 33 yards.

Berry came right back with a touchdown drive that included a 25-yard run on his own, and was capped by a 16-yard scoring pass to Jim Jones of Wisconsin.

The Wildcats led at 4-1 and 7-6, but a nine-point burst by Indiana put the Hoosiers ahead 15-7 and they led by five points or more the rest of the way.

Indiana led 39-24 at the half. Northwestern pulled within nine points at 52-43 on three straight field goals by Don Jackson but never came closer in the second half.

Tom VanArsdale of Indiana was high scorer with 17 points. Substitute Larry Cooper added 16. Jim Pitts and Jim Burns led the Wildcats with 12 points each.

Purdue Nips OSU In Loop Opener

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP) — Purdue lost an eight-point halftime lead over Ohio State, then built up a safe margin and beat the Buckeyes 71-64 in a Big Ten basketball opener Saturday.

Sophomore Ron Sepic fired an Ohio State rally in the second half that moved the Buckeyes from 45-37 behind into a 48-48 tie. Dave Schellhase, Bob Purkhis and Bill Jones shot Purdue in front again 54-48, Sepic hit twice to make it 54-52, but Schellhase and Jones built up Purdue's lead again and cooled the Buckeye threat.

Free throws decided the game, Purdue hitting 15 of 22 and Ohio State only 6 of 11.

Schellhase was high with 28 points. Sepic dropped 25 points.

KANE WINS ELDRED GRADE TOURNAMENT

ELDRD — Kane copped the championship of the annual Eldred Grade School Tournament here Friday night, topping Alsey in the finals, 41-31.

Kane reached the finals of the eight-team affair with a narrow 53-50 overtime victory over Kampsville Thursday. Alsey whipped defending champion St. John's of Carrollton Thursday 28-17. Kampsville captured third by beating St. John's 42-30.

David DeShazer was high for the champions in the final two games.

Michigan Knocks Illini Out Of Loop Lead, 89-83

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Defending champion Michigan opened its Big Ten conference basketball season Saturday with a 89-83 victory over Illinois, previously unbeaten in two league games.

Big Bill Buntin and Cazzie Russell paced the Wolverines with 30 points each as third-ranked Michigan muscled its way past the Illini.

Illinois took an early 7-4 lead, but Michigan quickly caught up with superior rebounding and left the floor at halftime with a 47-11 margin.

Don Freeman led Illinois with 27 points. Skip Thoren netted 24 for the Illini.

Michigan pushed its lead to 11 points early in the second half and held a lead of 13 points with 10 minutes left in the game.

Illinois, sparked by Tal Brody, closed the gap to four points with four minutes to go, but three quick baskets by Buntin wrapped up the game for Michigan.

The victory pushed Michigan's overall season record to 9-2.

Michigan out-rebounded Illinois 32-21 in the first half but the Illini held a slight shooting edge. Illinois had 47 per cent to Michigan's 43 per cent in the first half.

Wolverine coach Dave Strack started George Pomey in place of Oliver Darden for the second straight game. Pomey, playing a strong defensive game, scored seven points for Michigan.

12 State Schools

IBSSS Will Host Wrestling Tourney

On the weekend of January 29 and 30, the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving School will be host to a wrestling tournament to be held at the MacMurray College field house on Hardin Ave.

The Schools for the Blind from the eleven states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, South Dakota, Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, Kentucky, Indiana, and Ohio will journey here to participate with Illinois in the biggest wrestling tournament of Schools for the Blind in the United States.

This will be the 9th annual wrestling tournament of the North Central Association of Schools for the Blind. In the winter of 1958, IBSSS was host to the 2nd tournament held at the School for the Deaf gymnasium.

Something new has been added to this year's tournament in that a clinic for cheerleaders will be held at the same time. Every school participating has consented to bring their cheerleaders to lead their wrestlers on to victory.

The tournament will be run off in four sessions. The first session will be started at 1:30 p.m. on January 29 with the quarter-finals beginning at 7:30 that evening. Saturday afternoon at 1:30 will start the semi-final matches, to be followed at 7:30 by the fourth session for the consolation and championship matches.

Students of IBSSS will do much of the selling of tickets starting this Monday. 50 cents will buy you a ticket for any one session and $1 will buy you a ticket to attend all four sessions. There will be ticket stations set up at Routt, Illinois College, MacMurray College, and several other places yet to be selected.

Huarte Latest High-Priced QB Signed By Jets

NEW YORK (AP) — John Huarte, Notre Dame's star quarterback and the 1964 Heisman Trophy winner, signed to play for the New York Jets of the American Football League Saturday, and said he was ready to get into the high-priced quarterback derby the team will run next season.

The Jets wouldn't say how much it cost to land Huarte but guesses around town are putting the figure at $200,000, or just half of what the Jets reportedly shelled out for Joe Namath, the gimpy-kneed quarterback from Alabama.

Huarte said money wasn't everything in his choice of the Jets over the Philadelphia Eagles, who are coached by Joe Kihariach, the man who imported the Californian to Notre Dame in the first place.

"You have to weigh all the factors, and then make a decision," Huarte said. "Such as where you want to live, and that sort of thing."

"I had never been to Philadelphia, but I had been to New York and I think it is a wonderful city. Also, I plan to go on to graduate school, and there are two of the best in the country in New York."

"Then, the Jets are a young team and they have a solid organization. The money offers were comparable."

No. 2 Draft Pick Huarte, who led Notre Dame off the football floor last season to a 9-1 record and the No. 3 national ranking, was the No. 2 draft pick of the Jets. The Eagles picked him No. 6.

Namath was the No. 1 selection of the Jets, who also signed Bob Schweickert of Virginia Tech, another quarterback, and finished up last season with three quarterbacks on the team.

Asked how he liked plunging into this highly competitive situation, Huarte said:

"I like it. This is a highly competitive game, and a highly competitive world. Competition is the name of the game. I thrive on it."

Huarte, 21, six-feet and 185 pounds, is from Anaheim, Calif. The Jets, flush after a good year at the gate in new Shea Stadium last year, also announced three other signings:

Seth Cartwright, a 6-4, 265-pound defensive tackle from Prairie View; Cornell Gordon, another quarterback from North Carolina A&T who will be used as a defensive back, and Dan Kearley, All-America tackle from Alabama.

Bills To Reapportion House, Senate First In State Politics

By DICK EMERY
Statehouse Correspondent

SPRINGFIELD — The 74th session of the Illinois General Assembly opened in Springfield last Wednesday and the reapportionment problem raised its unruly head in both houses.

Barely had the opening sessions been gavelled to order, when reapportionment bills sponsored by the Democratic administration were introduced simultaneously in both legislative chambers.

The proposed legislation would readjust the district boundaries in both the House and Senate, in accordance with last year's U.S. Supreme Court decision that both houses of a state legislature should be apportioned on population determination.

This plan of redistricting is similar to plans already put in effect by other states.

Heretofore, while the House districts were based on population, Senate zones were placed geographically, similar to the districting of the U.S. Senate. The U.S. Supreme Court said that the federal system did not apply to the states.

Disagrees With Court
Jacksonville's Rep. Harris Rowe disagrees with this court decision. "But there is no question that the states must attempt to implement this decision of the Supreme Court, unless it is overturned by an act of Congress or a Constitutional Amendment," he said.

Rowe is anxious for the House to proceed on legislative matters. He theorized that the 49th House District might be left as it is when the plan is finally approved. The administration's re-map plan introduced Wednesday would add Brown and Jersey counties to the 49th district and renumber it the 52nd district.

Local Area Affected
Under this same proposal, Morgan county would be taken from the 45th Senatorial District with Sangamon and Cass counties, and lumped with Pike, Scott, Greene, Calhoun, Macoupin, Montgomery and Bond counties into the 51st Senatorial District.

The House adjourned until Monday for the inauguration. The Senate held another session Thursday to start consideration of a resolution introduced by President Pro-tem W. Russell Arrington to redesign the state's revenue article.

Joint Session Monday
Both houses will meet in joint session Monday for the impressive inaugural ceremonies at noon at the state armory. Gov. Otto Kerner will be sworn in along with other state officials.

The festive and gala inaugural ball begins at 8 p.m. Monday, also at the Armory. Duke Ellington's famous orchestra will provide music for dancing. The Senate has slated another session Tuesday to mull over legislation dealing with ethical codes for legislators and for state employees. These bills are designed to avoid conflict-of-interest activities. The House will not meet again until the joint session Jan. 26 to hear Kerner's annual budget message.

Housing Code 'Misunderstood' --- Holkenbrink

Mayor Byron Holkenbrink said Saturday that the proposed new housing code which will receive second reading and final vote of the city council Monday night has been "misunderstood and in need of further explanation."

The mayor said he had received numerous telephone calls and personal contacts concerning the proposed housing code. "Not a Building Code" "The housing code is not a building code in any sense of the word and is in no way concerned with construction. Persons desiring to build dwellings or add a room onto their homes may do so with the same freedom they have always enjoyed in Jacksonville," he said.

All that is needed for construction is that a building permit be obtained from the city inspector.

The sole purpose of the housing code is to govern the condition, maintenance and occupancy of residential premises, and establish reasonable safeguards for the safety, health and welfare of the occupants and users of the premises.

Eliminate Poor Housing
"The housing code is aimed to eliminate sub-standard housing in Jacksonville, something that should have been done twenty or more years ago," according to Mayor Holkenbrink. "Had it been done then, we would not have the sub-standard condition we now have, and it would not be necessary to turn to public housing or urban renewal programs to upgrade certain neighborhoods," the mayor said.

Minimum Standards
Under the housing code, existing dwellings must have, among other things of lesser nature: screens on the windows, kitchen sink, shower or bathtub, lavatory, stool, light and ventilation, garbage cans, approved heating, safe water from approved source, smoke and gas-tight chimneys and flues, approved electric wiring and storm water drainage.

Holkenbrink said construction in the city will remain under the National Building Code.

Highlight of the city-wide election campaign will be the race for mayor between Democrat incumbent Byron Holkenbrink of 348 East Michigan, and Republican Fred C. Gray of 944 Edgemoor who is completing his first term as alderman of the fifth ward. Both candidates will have many issues to discuss as they try for the $10,000 a year position as chief officer in Jacksonville's city government.

Sixth ward — Special election to fill the unexpired term of Milton Hocking (two years), Warren Massey (R) of 277 Finley. No Democrat has filed.

Seventh ward — Charles L. Quinn (R) of 743 West Douglas, incumbent; and John B. Koch (D) of 710 West Beecher.

Democrats are expected to conduct a write-in campaign for any vacancies on the ballot during the primary election or fill the vacancies by caucus after the primary election but before the city general election.

Greene County Man Killed In Accident South On Route 67

A 22-year-old Greene county man was killed in a two-car accident about 9:30 p.m. Saturday 2 1/4 miles south of Jacksonville on U. S. 67.

Coroner John B. Martin identified the deceased as Garrett Ralph Kuhnline, 22, of Wrights, driver of one of the cars involved in the accident. He was alone at the time of the accident.

Witnesses to the accident told investigating state troopers that the car driven by Kuhnline attempted to pass a car driven by Gary Motley of Hettick. Kuhnline was headed south at the time of the accident. Charles Adams of Route 5 was following Kuhnline and told troopers that he apparently tried to slow the auto but started "fishtailing" and skidded into the northbound lane and the path of the northbound auto driven by Richard Gregory.

The Gregory auto crashed into the right side of the Kuhnline auto and both vehicles came to rest in the east ditch. The accident happened in a no-passing zone.

$425,000 Bond Issue Invested By School Board

School District 117 Saturday invested $410,000 of a $425,000 bond issue in four of Jacksonville's financial institutions, to be held until such time as funds to pay construction costs are needed.

President Bill Chipman received the check from the sale of bonds Friday at the Continental Illinois Bank in Chicago in the amount of $417,299. The balance of the $425,000 issue had been retained by the school board as a "good faith" check at the time bids were accepted a month ago.

Members of the Board of Education voted to invest $410,000 of the total in local financial institutions according to bids. The $15,000 balance will be paid within a few weeks to cover preliminary costs of the proposed vocational educational building. Bids on the construction project will be let within a month or so and construction started as soon as weather permits.

Fund Distributed
Local institutions presented bids on the interest rate they were willing to pay and the amount of the total they could accept.

Elliott State Bank and Trust Company, $210,000 at 4 1/4 percent; First National Bank, $80,000 at 4 1/4 percent; Lincoln-Douglas Savings and Loan Association, $60,000 at 4 percent; Jacksonville Savings and Loan Association, $60,000 at 4 percent. The total invested was $410,000.

Weather, coupled with the speed of construction, will govern how long the funds will remain on deposit and earning interest. A large part of the money is expected to be on deposit about one year and a lesser amount about six months.

President Chipman said that the policy of the board would be to use the $120,000 drawing the lesser amount of interest first when construction payments to contractors became due.

The bond funds deposited will earn at least $12,000 for the school district according to President Chipman.

The Religious Year

The year 1964 was an eventful period so far as developments in religion were concerned. Some of the things that happened will have a profound effect during many years to come. This may be as true of certain obscure happenings as it is of events on a worldwide scale.

There was a continued wrestling over the great question of religious liberty in the United States. In 1964 it was featured by an effort to get a prayer amendment into the Constitution and a successful counter effort to avert this and thus preserve the traditional separation of church and state.

On the world scene, perhaps the most significant change was the shift to the national language in place of Latin in portions of the Roman Catholic mass. One of the main effects of this will be a growing awareness among all Christians of how similar worship is, at heart, in widely separated denominations. Another notable thing, in 1964, was the intensive involvement of many religious leaders in political campaigns. This was evident especially at the national level.

As was mentioned above, however, there also were relatively minor events that may have an impact out of proportion to their apparent significance. Take but one example, the undertaking of the "Christmas carpenters" from Oberlin College who spent their year-end holidays rebuilding a burned Negro church at Ripley, Miss. On a fire-blackened site they raised a new brick and frame structure and hoisted the steeple only two days before they had to return to their classes. It was a fitting end to a momentous year — an example of brotherhood that puts to shame the many who profess religious belief but seldom do more than go through the motions of faith.

Our Effluent Society

Sir Julian Huxley, the distinguished biologist and humanist, uses a phrase that shrewdly sums up one unpleasant aspect of civilization. Ours, he is fond of saying, is "an effluent society."

There is no evading the thrust of this description. Civilized man has not yet learned to dispose of his wastes, human and industrial, and in consequence he is polluting his world. Nowhere is this more clearly evident than in what we have done to our streams and lakes, many of which are little better than open sewers. Fishing in the Illinois river, once marvelous, is now almost over.

This is not a problem for coming generations to worry about. It is urgent that pollution abatement programs be stepped up, and that others be undertaken. For though the present effort is not negligible, it is not enough. There is a great deal of catching up to do just to keep the situation from getting worse than it now is, and the purity of inland waters cannot be restored without a broad, many-faceted program. This must be undertaken without delay by communities, states and the federal government.

LANDERS

Sick Chicks Choose Mates

Who Give Them Plenty of Punishment

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter has been going with a boy for two years. He is 20. She is 23.

When Celeste met Jack he was in the service. He spent weekends at our home whenever he could get a pass. After he was discharged he practically moved in. He drove Celeste to work in her car, entertained himself all day (said he couldn't find a job), then picked her up at work.

"Jack ate every meal at our home until I got sick of seeing his face and ordered him, in my daughter's presence, to pack his clothes and leave. He told Celeste she had to choose between him and her family. When she chose her family he slapped her face and left."

Three weeks later Celeste made a trip to Jack's home town to see him. Last week she went again. This morning she told us she is going to marry him. I know Celeste is using her savings to pay his debts and they will be flat broke.

Why would a lovely girl do this to herself? I need your help. —A VIRGINIA MOTHER

Dear Mother: The lovely girl has a warped personality which demands punishment. Such sick chicks invariably select someone who will furnish them with plenty.

You can do nothing but stand by. After Jack knocks her block off a few times she may come home. If she does, don't say "I told you so." Urge her instead to get professional help or she'll probably marry another character who will treat her the same way.

Dear Ann Landers: I just read the letter in your column from the idiot who said "Money is king. It can buy you all the friends in the world. Without it you're a dead duck."

I wish there was some way I could make that kid understand how wrong he is. I was born with a platinum spoon in my mouth. When I was 15 I had my own car. (No driver's license, but that didn't make any difference to my parents. They were determined that I was going to be popular.) Every morning there were five or six kids on the porch, waiting for a ride. I used to buy the gang sodas, cokes, malts, hamburgers, take them to the movies and ball games.

One day my English teacher took me aside and told me I was a bright boy but I had a few stupid ideas. She suggested I stop playing Santa Claus and see what happened. She was right. When I quit shelling out and hauling kids around it was like I developed some loathsome disease. Nobody came near me.

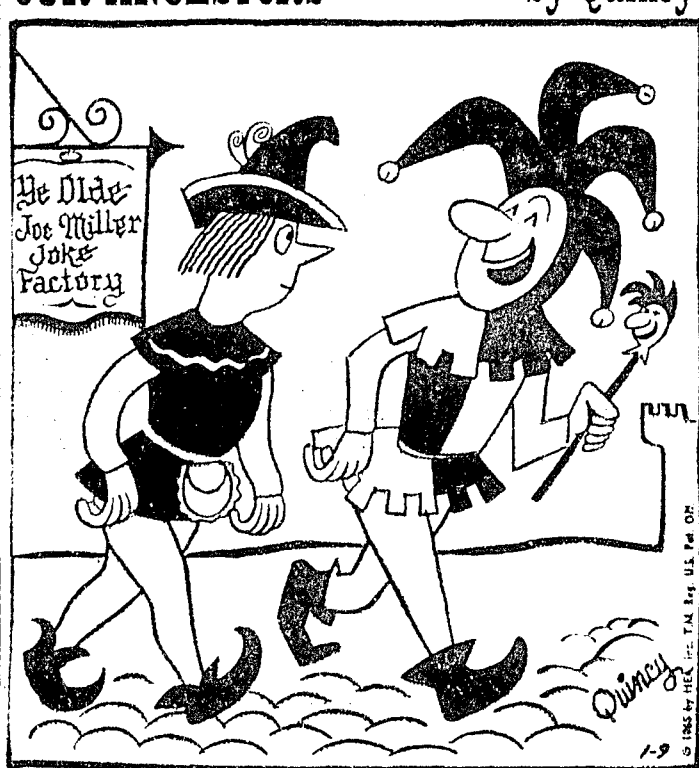

Today I have few friends, but they are devoted and genuine. I wouldn't trade one of them for 100 of the others. —SMARTER NOW

Dear Now: A wise man once said, "The way to make friends is to treat people well."

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

U.N. Debate Backfires On Noisy African Rebels

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

Washington Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Ironically, the spotlight the radical African nations tried to turn on the United Nations and Belgium has become focused on the complaining Africans.

The real emphasis in the United Nations debate on the U.S.-Belgian air rescue of hostages in the Congo has fallen on the moves by militant African states to subvert the duly constituted Congolese government.

U.S. officials concerned with the Congo are deeply troubled over the signs that Congolese rebel forces are getting increased and steady assistance from neighboring Africans.

This aid is not massive. There is no way of knowing whether it can or will be maintained at present levels, or stepped up further.

Despite reports that Soviet and Red Chinese arms are turning up in rebel hands, no firm conclusions may yet be drawn as to the role these outside Communist powers might play in the newest phase of the Congo's turbulent nationhood.

Nevertheless, this bold intervention, which finds its driving heart among Africans, brings the emergent "new Africa" to a serious crossroads.

Roughly half of all the African states—old and new, Arab and Negro—are considered moderate. In terms of population, the moderates have a clear continental majority.

The big question posed by the present turmoil is whether these forces, of which Nigeria is typical, can begin to exert a governing influence among the newly independent Africans.

The goal, of course, would be to develop a maturing sense of responsibility and mutual regard.

The vehicle at hand for this badly needed effort is the Organization of African Unity. U.S. officials, like a good many Africans, would like to see it acquire some of the stature and reliability of Latin America's impressive OAS.

Up to now, however, it has tended to be dominated by the noisy radicals—Ghana, Guinea, Mali, Kenya, the French Congo, to name some of the key activists. Using hatred of the West as a rationale for their every action, some of these militants practice interventionism in utter disregard of African solidarity.

The Congo affords merely the most striking instance. One harsh judgment by a U.S. spokesman asserts that certain militant Africans are, in fact, interventionist by confirmed habit and inclination.

They appear undeterred by the thought that what they do to others, in the Congo and elsewhere, could one day be done by others to them.

Nor do Moscow and Peking seem to them a menace. The radical Africans evidently feel that all advantage lies with themselves in their flirtations with Communist powers.

Yet the Russians, said by our officials to have made no evident commitment to the Congolese rebels, could now be maneuvering to claim credit for ferment which is gaining its principal encouragement from the African interventionists.

Even the Red Chinese, whose documented links to the Congolese rebels are just one proof Peking is playing a somewhat harder African game than the Russians, may also be getting a pretty free propaganda ride from the African interventionists' own dirty work.

The OAU's articles of intent forbid the subversive interventionist radical members practice as a ritual. The UN debate highlighted this glaring gap between performance and stated purpose.

The American view is that this exposure to the world's gaze has hurt the African radicals seriously, and that it may have emboldened the majority moderates to try leading Africa toward the genuine continental co-operation now so grievously lacking.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Nothing much has changed about Jean Arthur. She still has the same blonde beauty, the same smoky voice. She is still skittish about publicity.

The great star of sophisticated comedies of the '30s and '40s is back before the cameras after an 11-year absence. Her last appearance was in George Stevens' epic Western "Shane," and her return finds her out West again in "Gunsmoke." She is starring in the long-run series as mother of an outlaw.

She appeared for her first "Gunsmoke" scenes wearing blue jeans that displayed her trim figure to advantage. The record books show her to be 56, but that is hard to believe.

With Miss Arthur her work on the set was always uppermost. She remains the same. Between takes she huddled with the director or scampered to her dressing room. A brave reporter caught her in an unguarded moment and welcomed her back to town.

"Thank you, but you're breaking the rules in talking to me," she said, half in jest.

She did pause for a fleeting moment to reflect on the experience of working in television.

"They shoot so fast!" she remarked. "My goodness, we fly from one scene to another. I think it's wonderful. I enjoy doing it and getting on to the next scene."

I mentioned that it wasn't like working with George Stevens, who has been known to shoot 25 takes of one scene. "Yes, but he's so wonderful," she replied, and she inquired about his new film, "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

"Gee, I wish he would make some comedies again," she said. "He made such good ones." Among them were "Talk of the Town" and "The More the Merrier," in which Miss Arthur starred.

She said little more, and when a publicity man approached, she took off like a shot.

FINDING THE WAY

Vow to Open a Door

BY RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The crooner was singing "Just us in a room, without windows or doors." Frankly, that doesn't sound too inviting, suggesting a cell instead of a room. And there is the old limerick:

I wish that my room had a floor.

I don't mind it not having a door.

But this walking around Without touching the ground

Is getting to be quite a bore!

But I would be concerned if there was no door!

The challenge of this new year is discovering those doors. And then opening them.

Mankind is haunted by the number of bolted doors, areas where hope is abandoned. Think of the problems caused by totalitarian governments, or housing or racial injustice or extreme poverty and you are aware of the numbers of people who can't see a door.

What is worse there are the others who know there are doors and refuse to open them. They can tell you all of the hazards, the disappointments and the risks.

To be doorless in such a room is to be a victim of the heresy of despair. The doorless are hopeless.

To pretend that there are doors that open to easy ways by which these problems can be solved is to live in a fantasy-land.

To refuse to open the doors that there are is to be a defeatist and a cynic.

Men who collect such information, tell us that doors of the year, open the door!

have many meanings. There is the old tradition in certain rural areas of painting the door blue when there were marriageable daughters at home. There are the churches with red doors. There were the doors to the castles with their great hinges of metal and their formidable look of authority. There are the glass doors that sometimes pose threats because they are confused with windows. The important fact to know is that there are doors. Personally, the most important significance of the door is "the open door."

There is a sentence at the opening of a newly published book of essays by the late Pierre Teilhard de Chardin. That distinguished scholar and priest wrote, "The whole future of the earth, as of religion, seems to me to depend on the awakening of our faith in the future." That's an open door.

Think of the differences in persons and communities when there are those who understand the meaning of the Lord who says, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. To any man who opens, I will come in and sup with him." At the opening formation, tell us that doors of the year, open the door!

Drummer Boy's Diary

Tom S. Chandler was 17 years old and small for his age when he enlisted in the 33rd Illinois Infantry regiment as a drummer.

The regiment was built around Illinois Normal College students, who enlisted almost to a man under the leadership of the president, Col. Charles E. Hovey. Co. K was from Cass county, mostly Chandlerville, under command of Dr. Charles E. Lippincott of the town, a son-in-law of Dr. Charles Chandler.

THOMAS S. CHANDLER

Dr. Lippincott soon became the colonel as Col. Hovey won a promotion to brigadier general. When the new colonel came home on leave young Tom worried the life out of everybody until he got permission to enlist.

He was the son of Marcus and Sarah Jane Chandler. The father was a carpenter by trade, and an excellent one, but he soon became associated with Dr. Charles Chandler in the operation of a pork packing plant, and still later in a large general store which stood just north of the Lintner & Son Funeral Home.

Tom couldn't think or talk about anything else except joining the army, so finally his parents said O.K., O.K., you can go, or words to that effect.

He began keeping a diary in a small notebook on Jan. 1, 1865, while he and the rest of the regiment were guarding a railroad in the swamp land some 73 miles west of New Orleans. He kept the diary rather faithfully, but some days were very dull and he didn't have much to write about. His longest and most important entries dealt with the activities of the paymaster and rumors about going home.

Plenty Of Mosquitoes
Here are some excerpts from the diary:

Jan. 1st. Bayou Bouef, 1865—Rather nice and warm. We are having plenty of mosquitoes yet. As to-day is Sunday and the first day of the New Year we had a gay dinner.

Jan. 2nd. Nothing going on to-day. We had a stag dance this evening.

Jan. 3rd. An oyster boat made its appearance up the bayou to-day. It came from the Gulf. We had an oyster supper to-night.

Jan. 4 — Great excitement in Camp to-day. We heard that the pay master would be here in a few days to pay us.

Jan. 5 — The Pay master is now at Brashear City paying off the 11th Wisconsin and will pay us to-morrow.

Jan. 6 — The long looked for Pay master is here and I have got 4 months' Pay in my fob. Now for New Orleans and all immediate landings.

Jan. 11 — I feel a little lonesome to-day. 3 days in the City has spoiled me. Nothing going on to-day.

Jan. 13 — There is a French Dance to-night. I shall attend. Jan. 14 — I feel some what under the weather to-day. I danced last night until 2½ and I feel a little sleepy.

Jan. 18 — Dan Robinson (also of Co. K and the drum major of the regiment) and myself got a pass and went back to the city to-day. Put up at our old place, Madame Hoover's. Went to the Academy of Music to-night.

Jan. 21 — Nothing has transpired worth mentioning to-day.

Jan. 21 — The weather keeps quite pleasant. There are plenty of mosquitoes yet.

Jan. 23 — I went to a French dance to-night and danced until my legs were loose.

Jan. 24 — I feel as sleepy as the old Harry to-day. I was up until 2:30 this morning.

Jan. 26 — It is quite cold to-day. There is not a mosquito visible. The cold has made them hunt their holes.

Feb. 1 — Raining this morning. No mail for a con's age.

Feb. 9 — The weather has turned quite pleasant. Bully for that. Bully for that.

Feb. 13 — Raining as usual this morning and mud up to the knees of the horses. Tis almost impossible for any one to go from our quarters to Headquarters.

Feb. 14 — I think if it would quit raining awhile it would stop, but no idea have I of it stopping for 10 years. I am tired of this FUSS.

March 1. Terre Bonne — We received Orders to be ready to get on the train at 9 a.m. in the morning.

March 2 — We all got on the train for Algiers. Left Terre Bonne at 10 a.m. When we got within 27 miles of Algiers, the train ran off the track, and killing 11 men and wounding 70. It was one of the awfullest Sights I ever saw.

Worse Than Battles
Cass county suffered greatly by railroad accidents. In the fall of 1861 a train wreck in Indiana practically ruined Co. F of the 19th Illinois Infantry. Most of the men were from Virginia and Chandlerville and the casualty list was practically 100%.

Co. A of the 33rd Infantry, mostly from Beardstown, was hurt badly in the Louisiana wreck. Three were killed outright, two died of their injuries in the next day, and over half of the company were soon given a medical discharge and sent home.

THAT Income Tax

There was much interest in a long story printed in the Jacksonville Journal one hundred years ago this week.

The country's first income tax was on individual incomes exceeding $600 in 1863 and payable in 1864. Morgan county had 391 persons who reported income subject to taxation. They paid a total of $20,642.

In printing the list of individuals and their income during 1863 the newspaper observed:

The following is a list of the names of the persons in Morgan county assessed for the special tax of 5 per cent on the incomes for the year 1863 on all incomes exceeding $600. It will be found of great interest and will serve to explode some popular fallacies.

The chief interest, in many cases, will be not so much as what is herein, as on account of what is not herein. It is more than sad to contemplate the fact that so many believed in prosperous circumstances are evidently living beyond their means. Read and be wise, be posted on the financial matters of your neighbors and the rest of mankind.

By this list it will be seen that "all is not gold that glitters," or that those who always make the greatest show do not have the largest amount to do it with. It will be of great interest "to all whom it may concern," and to others whom it may not personally concern. By this everybody can see how much their neighbor's income is, or whether it is anything or not. The amounts named are that much over $600, so if there is $200 marked down the individual's income is $800, and so on, etc., etc.

Even today the list is most interesting; it indicates that human nature hasn't changed much in the past century. A check of the list against the probate records in the court house shows clearly that the county had some first class liars and perjurers, even "in the good old days when honesty was the rule, when a man's word was his bond."

One great change, however, stands out; a heavy increase in income among the professional people — ministers, lawyers, doctors, dentists and teachers — during the past century. In 1863 there were two dentists, 20 physicians and 20 attorneys in Jacksonville — yet only five of them paid any tax at all and three of them had real estate incomes. Only four school teachers had incomes exceeding $600, and many a preacher reported making that much.

The Big Three
The top money makers in 1863 were the bankers, real estate owners and farmers, just as they are today.

John T. Alexander had the highest income in the county. He paid $1,500 on a net income of $30,000. He was the No. 1 cattleman in the nation then, with large holdings in Missouri and a 5,000 acre livestock farm in the eastern part of the county. He shipped more cattle into the New York market than any other man. In 1866 he bought the famed Broadlands farm, 22,511 acres of Class 1 land, in southeastern Champaign county, for $270,000, plus another $100,000 for its inventory of livestock grain, hay, buildings and farm implements. He added considerably to this farm until he was nearly wrecked in 1870 by the economic slump that followed the Civil War and the influx of cattle trailed northward to railheads in Kansas, all carrying that great cattle killer — Texas fever.

Jacob Strawn, formerly the top cattle man, reported an income of $15,000. This sounds about right, for Strawn was then an old and sick man who had given away much of his property to his sons and daughters and wasn't paying much attention to business.

James Dunlap, who had practically run Jacksonville for 30 years and was considered by many as an exceedingly rich man, reported an income of $2,000.

Good Banking Year
M. P. Ayers and Co., private bankers disclosed a very good year. Marshall P. had had a net income of $23,113 and his brother, August E. (who was the "Co." of M. P. Ayers & Co.) earned $23,207. It was August who took over the complicated financial affairs of John T. Alexander in 1870 and pulled him through without loss to any creditor by splitting the giant Broadlands farm into 80 and 120 acre farms and selling them to individual farmers. He was so highly regarded by the people of that area that the map shows Ayers township in the extreme southeastern edge of Champaign county.

Jesse T. Newman, the live-wire merchant of the town, had a net income of $843 and Dr. David Prince, the town's leading physician and surgeon, had a net of $846.

Dr. Rev. J. M. Sturtevant, president of Illinois College and considered by many of his day the best man in the county, paid tax on $469 Jonathan Baldwin, Turner, former I. C. teacher who devoted most of 1863 pushing along the Land Grant College plan and especially the proposed Illinois Industrial University, had a net income of $900 and Samuel Adams, beloved president of Jacksonville Female Academy, had an income of $753, for a net of $153, and a tax of $7.65.

The two top active attorneys of the day, Isaac L. Morrison, Republican, and Cyrus Epler, Democrat, reported net incomes of $546 and $350, respectively. This income tax law didn't last long. Even at its low rate it speedily paid off the national debt incurred by the war. Congress didn't know what to do with the money coming in so the tax was dropped.

This was in the days before the boys on Capitol Hill learned the fine art of spending money.

News, Views Century Ago

From the Jacksonville Journal:

AN ANNUAL INCOME OF $5,000,000 — Alex T. Stewart, the dry goods nabob of New York, has the largest income of any man in America, or probably in the world. He has lately paid an income tax of $250,000 — on a net income of $5,000,000. We know of no case among the wealthy men of England who can surpass or equal this, and we suppose him the richest man living.

A SERIOUS CHARGE — A citizen of Jacksonville communicates to the Springfield JOURNAL of Monday last, a statement of facts very materially, if true, damaging to the character of Mr. Thos. M. Averitt, City Marshal of Springfield, accusing said official with an attempt to sell a boy, who he pretended to hold as a prisoner, as a substitute into the army. The charge is a very serious one, and should meet with a rigid investigation.

SAVANNAH REPUBLICAN — We are indebted to Mr. J. A. Barrows of the 101st Regiment, Illinois Vols., now at Savannah, Ga., for a copy of a newspaper bearing the above title. The specimen before us, though small and printed on inferior paper, gives evidence of enterprise and ability. Probably nothing tells the citizens of Savannah that they are under the pointed rule of Yankee bayonets than the presence in their midst of a loyal, live free spoken newspaper.

We wish our friends would send us an original poem every week, and save us the trouble of making selections for such matter and we would rather have excellent original poems if it were possible. So send in your poetry and let us see it. From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

THE SENATORIAL ELECTION — The Senatorial election at Springfield on last Thursday resulted in the election of Gov. Yates over Washburne. The Washburne party charged whisky drinking upon Yates and the Yates' faction charged that Washburne made money by speculating in whisky, while too stingy to drink it.

THE NEW JAIL — We notice that the metal roofing on the new jail is completed. The building will be ready for the reception and entertainment of our county boarders early in the spring.

Jno. C. Barr sold to Wm. W. Anderson a farm near Bethel, 100 acres, for $8,000.

There has been a general rush to Springfield, of the various office holders in the different counties and districts of the state, and the legislature is being pressed to raise all official salaries and fees to correspond with the advance in prices, caused by the depreciation of the currency. This would be no more than justice, as the depreciation of the currency has practically reduced salaries and fees at least one half.

The roads have worn smooth and our merchants are anticipating a big Saturday trade to-morrow. We learn that the dry freezing weather is injuring the wheat crop.

From the Carrollton Gazette: It has been reported that the legislature has enacted a special bill authorizing Greene county to borrow $100,000 to assist in raising volunteers.

Mr. Wm. M. Fry, we are sorry to say, has tendered his resignation as provost marshal of this district. Quite a number of men are aspiring to his successorship, but as yet no appointment has been made — nor has the resignation of Mr. Fry been accepted at the latest accounts.

Nuclear War Not On '65 Horizon

BY SPENCER DAVIS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Although a nuclear war is not on the horizon in 1965, a world filled with trouble spots and problem areas confronts President Johnson at the start of his first elected term.

Dangers abroad affecting U.S. national interests and demanding White House attention fall into two categories — the pressing immediate crises labeled extremely dangerous and secondly, the slower-fused but potentially explosive questions which could erupt at any time.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk in a year-end appraisal called South Viet Nam and the Congo the two most immediate and most dangerous situations "which need and will get our continuing attention." There were at least 10 more of varying magnitude and urgency.

Among the more pressing problems before Johnson were these:

SOUTH VIET NAM: The bloody jungle guerrilla war with the Communist Viet Cong could expand into a much larger conflict involving North Viet Nam and Communist China in direct confrontation with U.S. power. Or it could bring a collapse of the fragile South Viet Nam government that could lead to a U.S. defeat and withdrawal with disastrous consequences in Southeast Asia, the Far East and around the world.

At the year end, the United States was seeking unity of leadership that would make possible a Saigon government which could function without the threat of a military veto. There were some signs the civilian-military political crisis was easing. But experts felt the war was slowly being lost.

CONGO: The situation was threatening due to outside intervention. A direct East-West clash could result plunging much of Africa into the cold war. The United States did not consider its assistance to the Congo government over a five-year period as intervention, but took quite another view of the furnishing of arms illegally to the rebels by Communist China, Algeria.

This brought new strains in relations with the U.A.R. and by speaking the same language Algeria and heightened tension of peaceful coexistence that it had with Peking. The United States had under Soviet Premier Khrushchev to persuade Premier Moise Tshombe to accept a cease-fire with the rebels. But it was rejected by Leopoldville. The United States did not anticipate Soviet initiatives the Congo government to broaden its base by admitting non-rebel opposition elements including former Premier Cyrille Adoula. The image of Tshombe was bad among many other African leaders. The chances for a solution appeared bleak.

CYPRUS: Although there was both facing internal political problems. There were still dictatorships in Ecuador and Bolivia. While Panama was presently quiet, canal negotiations and the Jan. 9 anniversary of last year's riot could bring renewed tension. Haiti and the Dominican Republic were other areas of potential difficulty.

INDONESIA-MALAYSIA: Ailing President Sukarno of Indonesia reaffirmed his threat to crush Malaysia which he regarded as a symbol of British neocolonialism. The United States hoped to avoid a break in relations with Indonesia if possible but ties were severely strained by Communist-inspired attacks on U.S. Information Service Agency libraries.

Peking was encouraged by the success of its diplomatic campaign in Africa but this could bring difficulties when Africans ask what the Red Chinese are going to do for them in the form of aid.

ATLANTIC ALLIANCE: The machinery of NATO was in need of close attention over organizational problems. In recognition of new British proposals, the multilateral force received a new name, Atlantic Nuclear Force ANF. The ANF would include the V bombers and Polaris submarines as well as the American-favored surface fleet of about 25 vessels manned by American, British and German and other personnel. Some form of mixed-man surface fleet was expected to emerge during the year, despite controversy within NATO over the proposal.

GERMAN REUNIFICATION: Rusk listed the need as most urgent to find a permanent, peaceful and satisfactory settlement of the German question. It could open the door to far-reaching disarmament measures and relieve burdens now placed on both East and West Europe and the United States. But progress in this direction would be slow. There were no indications of Soviet readiness to consider a reunified Germany, nor were the French warm to the idea.

SOVIET UNION: The most powerful U.S. foe appeared to be speaking the same language of peaceful coexistence that it had under Soviet Premier Khrushchev. But the new Kremlin Moise Tshombe to accept a cease-fire with the rebels. But it was rejected by Leopoldville. The United States did not anticipate Soviet initiatives the Congo government to broaden its base by admitting non-rebel opposition elements including former Premier Cyrille Adoula. The image of Tshombe was bad among many other African leaders. The chances for a solution appeared bleak.

There were hopes a form of peaceful coexistence could be worked out among the rival island factions. But there were no guarantees that the shooting would not erupt again. The U.N. peace-keeping force on the Mediterranean island was due to be withdrawn in March.

COMMUNIST CHINA: Peking received a psychological boost from its first nuclear explosion last Oct. 17. A reasonably rapid test program in 1965 could give the Chinese Communists a sustained lift. No big changes were foreseen in Peking's contacts with the Soviet Union over the next year or two. They were expected to remain strained.

Peking was encouraged by the success of its diplomatic campaign in Africa but this could bring difficulties when Africans ask what the Red Chinese are going to do for them in the form of aid.

ATLANTIC ALLIANCE: The machinery of NATO was in need of close attention over organizational problems. In recognition of new British proposals, the multilateral force received a new name, Atlantic Nuclear Force ANF. The ANF would include the V bombers and Polaris submarines as well as the American-favored surface fleet of about 25 vessels manned by American, British and German and other personnel. Let's Go Birding

Alone But Not Lonely

By Emma Mae Leonhard

December fifth was a lonely day; at least it seemed so to us hikers. The twigs and branches of the leafless trees were encased in iridescent ice which the sunlight played upon. In spite of the sun's rays they were hard and brittle and cold; when we brushed against them, some splintered off and fell to the ice-and-snow paved ground.

The branches of the evergreens were bowed with the weight of the congealed snow and also were hard and brittle and cold. Here at the edge of Lake Jacksonville there were no fluffy snow scenes; there was only cold loneliness.

Between the edge of the shore and the ice line teetered a lone Killdeer. At first, in the gray coldness, it looked like a dull gray shadow of a shore bird, but we soon detected the two black bands on its breast.

Although Killdeer usually announce their presence by their loud insistent "kill-deeah, kill-dee," this lone bird was saying nothing. Many times we hear a Killdeer's plaintive "deee-ee," but this lone bird was not complaining. Courageously and confidently a Killdeer was feeding upon what the shore offered. Near this spot but far out on the open water bound by ice we detected a long-bodied dark bird sitting deep in the water. Suddenly it disappeared but soon rose to the surface some distance from where it had been floating. We thought that it was a Loon.

In the midst of such maneuvers it flapped its wings twice in a playful manner. Then we knew that it was a Loon; we saw the white throat and breast flash above the gray water.

Soon it seemed to run along the surface of the water with the aid of its short flapping wings, and then rose in the air and flew over the dark water, with its large feet trailing behind it. It was one lone bird between the sky and the water, but it was unafraid and confident.

We were impressed by the aloneness of these two birds, but were they really lonely? They were so much a part of the water, the land, and the sky that they had found the secret of facing life — unafraid.

IN CHINA

For Chinese who are Christians, Christmas is one of the days in the year which is celebrated. Chinese flock from far and near to the church.

They parade around the church grounds singing (in Chinese) "O, Come All Ye Faithful" and other English or German carols. They take lanterns on poles so they can make their way to the church.

They have vases of artificial flowers and evergreens. They make a manger scene with backgrounds of rocks and evergreen branches.

At midnight they shoot firecrackers and powder charges. Mark Tomlovich, Mrs. Watt's Fifth Grade Franklin

The last time Scotland Yard moved was in 1890, when lack of space forced London's policemen to leave their original headquarters at No. 4 Whitehall Place, adjoining Scotland Yard.

Rockets And Space—

IT HAPPENED IN 1964

By WALTER B. HENDRICKSON, JR.

PART 2

Last Sunday we listed several of the United States space accomplishments of the past year including Ranger's excellent moon photos and the successful beginning of Mariner's flight to fly-by Mars by July. But there were several more space shots worthy of note during this past year.

Several scientific satellites were also launched by NASA: On August 25 Topsy I (short for Topside Sounder) was launched into orbit to study upper atmosphere, and micro-meteoroids.

Italy Launches Satellite On December 15 Italy's San Marco I was launched from Wallops Island, Virginia by an all-Italian crew. San Marco I's job is to study air drag at the top of the atmosphere.

First Night Cloud Photos Two days later, on August 28, the tower-shaped Nimbus weather satellite was launched into orbit. Using Infrared (heat sensitive) cameras Nimbus got the first night time pictures of clouds from orbit.

On October 9 the satellite, Beacon Explorer B was launched. The base of this satellite had a surface to reflect Laser light beams back to earth.

On September 4 the first Orbiting Geophysical Observatory was launched into orbit. It carried 17 experiments. The first successful test of an Atlas-Centaur rocket was made on December 11. It carried a model of a Surveyor soft-landing moon probe into orbit.

The Air Force Satellites launched in 1964 were for the purpose of keeping our guard up against surprise enemy action. On July 17, two Nuclear Detection Satellites, called NDS-3 and 4 for short, were launched into separate orbits by the same Atlas-Agena rocket.

Spy Satellites The Air Force has also continued launching its Discoverer spy satellite series. This series is so secret that they have not disclosed the number of launches; but there were probably more than 60 as there were in 1963.

On December 11 the Air Force launched a 3,360 pound weight into orbit in a test of its Titan III-A missile.

The U.S. has also assisted other countries in launching their satellites. On March 27 Britain's Ariel II was launched into orbit to study radio noise from space. Ozone layers in the upper atmosphere, and micro-meteoroids.

Italy Launches Satellite On December 15 Italy's San Marco I was launched from Wallops Island, Virginia by an all-Italian crew. San Marco I's job is to study air drag at the top of the atmosphere.

ST. LUCIA'S DAY

In Sweden the Christmas season begins on St. Lucia's Day, December 13, when morning coffee and cakes are served by a young girl wearing an evergreen crown containing several lighted candles.

Her blond hair falls loosely to her shoulders. She is dressed in white and holds a tray containing hot coffee and crusty festival cakes.

In each Swedish home it is the eldest of the young girls who takes part in this poetic tradition. Sweden, like the other northern countries, is especially rich in folklore and legends which tell of spirits, witches, and phantoms.

The tradition of St. Lucia's Day is part of the ancient folklore concerning the disappearing sun.

ON THE FARM

It was the night before Christmas, And all through the barn Not a creature was stirring, Throughout all the farm.

The feed sacks were hung over the Door with great care, Hoping Santa soon would be there.

"Santa is coming," said the pigs, With a grunt They jumped in their stalls Hoping he'd come to the front.

He landed on the roof They could hear by his feet He slid down the haymow To find them asleep.

He brought them some straw He measured their oats He weighed out their corn While he whistled clear notes.

Now plenty of wheat and Ten bales of hay He hauled it all in Then went on his way.

But they heard him exclaim As he drove out of sight "Merry Christmas to all And enjoy every bite."

It cost $29.00 and so he took his money. They went to the store and bought the organ. She plays her organ. By Mark A. Johnson Murrayville

Greg's Daring Escape

By John Rankin

(PART 2)

It was a couple of hours later when Greg stirred restlessly, put a hand to the slight bump on his head and then his eyes opened wide to stare about the room. "Hey, this looks like a hospital," he muttered aloud. "What am I doing here, anyway? What happened to Dad and Nick?"

A nurse moved to the bed. "Take it easy, sonny boy," she soothed. "Your father is across the hall with a few minor cuts and bruises from the car accident, but the doctor doesn't want him disturbed."

Where's Nick? She moved from the bed. Greg called after her as she reached the door. "Hey, what about Nick?"

She turned to face him, her eyes showing surprise. "Nick? Nick who?"

"Our dog," Greg said with a trace of impatience in his voice. "He was in the back seat when we went over the cliff. Maybe he got out of the car and went home. Hey, anybody call my mom? She'll be worried when we don't show up or nothing."

The nurse shook her head. "We tried, but the line is dead. And with the storm still raging it'll be days before service is restored. One of the state troopers that helped pull you and your dad out of the car is down at the desk. I'll ask him if he knows anything about your dog."

Find Injured Dog The minute she left the room Greg jumped out of bed and moved to the door where he received the shock of his life when he heard the trooper say, "There was no dog in the car, but we found a big black one stretched out on the highway near the wreck. He was pretty well bashed up so we brought him into Blair's clinic. The doc says he'll have to be destroyed."

For a moment Greg fought against a driving impulse to dash pell-mell through the corridor and down the stairway to the street. From there he could soon sprint the few blocks across town to the Blair clinic. But then his better judgment told him he'd never make it past the trooper at the desk. The back door would be locked.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

One Christmas morning everybody was up and looking out the window at the snow coming down. It was sparkling as it hit.

Everybody was so happy that it was snowing and that there were presents under the Christmas tree.

Soon everyone was ready for church, and they all got in the car. Half way out the driveway they got stuck.

They were doomed because the snow in the driveway was at least a foot deep. The boys got out to shovel the snow and they finally arrived at church. The rest of the Christmas season was a happy one. Mrs. Watt's Fifth Grade Franklin School and a guard stationed at the front entrance and, dressed only in a hospital gown he'd have every policeman in town after him.

Midnight Escape The hospital clock tolled midnight. Greg risked a glance down the corridor. The nurse and the trooper were still there. "Now is the time," he mused, "glad it's only two stories down." He closed the door quietly and moved to the window. It opened easily. The storm had ceased — conveniently leaving a huge snow-drift directly below.

Just as the daring youth in the hospital gown hit the snow-drift a woman appeared from around a corner. She shrieked wildly and went tearing down the street screaming for the police!

Even as Greg dug his way out of the snowbank a burly policeman was waiting for him. He glared suspiciously at the kid in the crazy looking outfit and moved in close. Then he lunged — but drove his own head deep into the snowpile when the nimble youngster sidestepped neatly. (To Be Continued)

IN SWEDEN

In the Scandinavian countries even the sparrows are not forgotten at Christmas time. It is the custom that all families should set out a sheaf of rye. This is truly a feast for the birds' Christmas dinner.

Even in large cities, as one drives home from church on Christmas Day, he may see a sheaf of grain in front of many of the homes or on a balcony over the doorway.

In all Europe the people feed the birds as they do in the Scandinavian countries.

Even in America, occasionally, some thoughtful person sets out a sheaf of wheat. You may wish to inquire about this custom.

CHRIST WAS BORN

When Christ was born the most beautiful star appeared overhead. It was so beautiful wise men from the east were fascinated and wanted to see why the star was there.

Shepherds heard from the angels and came to Bethlehem, leaving their sheep to see the new born infant.

Angels came down from the heavens and blessed this holy one. Mary and Joseph were astonished with the wonderful gifts the wise men brought to the new born.

Findley, Farm Bureau Cropland Retirement Bill Before Congress

Farm Bureau's campaign for passage of workable farm legislation was carried to the floor of Congress Monday when Rep. Paul Findley (R-Ill.) introduced Farm Bureau's cropland retirement bill.

"This is the opening move to seek passage of a realistic farm bill," according to William J. Kuhfuss, president of the Illinois Agricultural Association.

"Congressman Findley is to be congratulated for his realistic and aggressive approach to the serious problem facing farmers," he added.

The bill sets up a three-year program for wheat and feed grains based on voluntary retirement of wheat and feed grain acreage. Price supports are set in relation to market prices. The bill does away with quotas and crop history bases. It is estimated to cost a fraction of the $5.2 billion spent in the emergency feed grain program in the past four years.

Rep. Findley who represents Illinois' 20th district in western Illinois, pointed out that his bill would create an atmosphere in which the market system could work.

Kuhfuss stated that we are happy to see this legislation which would help to establish the marketplace as the only place where realistic prices can be determined. The market place does determine the direction which farm adjustment must take in order to fit production to need. The cropland retirement feature of the bill is a cushion designed to permit farmers to make necessary adjustments without undue economic hardship.

Findley is Illinois' only member of the House of Representatives Committee on Agriculture.

Kuhfuss added that "We are very pleased that the Findley bill, which embodies Farm Bureau's policy recommendations, has been introduced so early in the new session of Congress. We are putting maximum effort behind a push to seek adoption of this bill."

Rep. Findley's bill adds a maximum dollar figure of $750 million to the Farm Bureau policy statement. This clearly places a price tag on the cost of the program which is about two-fifths the cost of the present emergency feed grain legislation.

"I hope President Johnson will look carefully at the program outlined in the Findley bill as he writes his agriculture message to Congress. In it he will find the means through which to build a prosperous agriculture and trim the budget at the same time. He has expressed interest in accomplishing both of these objectives and we in Farm Bureau are in agreement with him on these points," Kuhfuss stated.

Farmers Union Of Cass County Has Annual Meet

The Cass County Farmers Union held its annual meeting and supper at Rossi's restaurant in Virginia Thursday.

Bob Smith, research director of Illinois Farmers Union discussed activities on the State and National levels.

Ralph Sutton commented on the new seed corn plan for members and Bob Stromstrefer explained the new group insurance plan.

All county officers were re-elected for the coming year by unanimous vote.

The delegates to the State convention January 14 and 15 are Homer Korte, James Merwin, Albert Wessler, Roscoe Reichert, Robert Witte and Martin Winkelman. The first three delegates and the latter three, alternates.

A. J. Ruppel and Oscar Reichert were honored for membership work which accounted for over a 10 per cent increase in county membership last year and it was agreed that they receive tickets to the state banquet January 14 when James Patton, president of National Farmers Union, will speak.

Roscoe Reichert, Paul Winkelman and Martin Winkelman were appointed to the fair committee.

A membership drive was set for January 28.

ROODHOUSE—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Ruyle have returned from Springfield where, at a showing of thirty-four early summer yearlings, their young Angus bull was awarded a blue ribbon, Monday. He was sold and was shipped to Milwaukee, Wis., to join a herd there. The showing was held at the State Fair grounds.

In the evening the Ruyles attended a banquet at the St. Nicholas hotel attended by 400 people from seventeen states. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Ruyle were awarded a trophy at the banquet.

Deadline for Support Applications Nears

The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation service county office reminds farmers that the deadline is drawing close for filing applications for price support on a number of 1964 crops. An approved application entitles a producer to receive price support through loans or purchases of the commodity by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC).

County Chairman Lester E. Martin says Jan. 31 is the official final date, but since it falls on a Sunday, the effective deadline will be Feb. 1. Crops include oats, soybeans and wheat.

Corn applications may be made until May 31. The A.S.C.S. official said that in case some producers have made applications, but have not yet paid the $3 application fee. Such applications will not be valid unless fee is paid by the deadline.

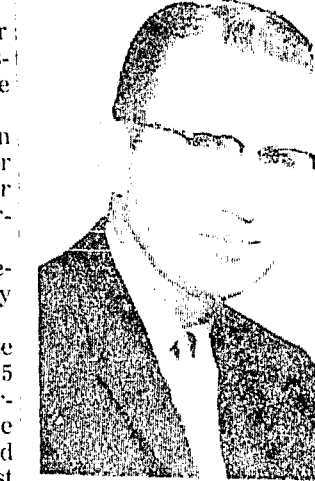

Applications on soybeans may be accepted through Feb. 1. Loans will be available through June 30 and the maturity date of the basic loan rate, at the end of the season.

How Much For Corn? It's Pretty Much Up To Government

The key factor in the corn price outlook during the coming months will be the rate of selling by farmers and the Commodity Credit Corporation, according to L. F. Stice, University of Illinois agricultural economist. He says the major uncertainty in the market is the timing and quantity of CCC sales.

Stice notes that the 1964 U.S. corn crop of 3,549 million bushels is the smallest since 1958—down 543 million bushels from the 1963 crop and 300 million short of the expected 1964-65 disappearance of 3,850 million.

per bushel lower and field shelling will be likely to increase. With a moderatesized crop, pressures on marketing facilities again could be severe. The effect could be a depressed cash corn market during the harvest season.

L. F. Stice

Normally in years of short crops prices are highest early in the marketing season, often at harvest. However, 1964 prices were held in check by heavy marketings of field-shelled corn and prospects of large sales of CCC corn. Otherwise, the gap of 300 million bushels between production and prospective use would have pushed prices substantially above 1963 levels.

The CCC owns about 800 million bushels of corn and has the authority to sell it at the 1964 loan rate of $1.10 for No. 3 corn plus carrying charges of 1 1/2 cents per bushel per month beginning with October 1.

An extra three cents a bushel is added for No. 2 corn with less than 2 percent foreign material and 14 percent moisture. Therefore, the CCC's statutory minimum resale price in January for pool certificate corn is 7 1/2 cents per bushel above the 1964 loan rate, or at about the current market price.

The prospects, therefore, are that CCC sales of corn will hold further price advances in surplus corn areas to about the amount of storage rates. Stice explains, in deficit areas prices may go higher. Futures prices, on the other hand, may advance only 3 to 5 cents above present levels.

Looking ahead to the 1965 corn crop, Stice says some increase in corn acreage is likely, the loan rate will be 5 cents

FROM STEARNS' "ESSAYS ON LIBERTY"

"When a worthwhile task is to be performed, there are individuals who can and those who cannot; those who will and those who will not. The task is performed to the extent that there are both those who can and will." When government is permitted jurisdiction over the task, a third distinction is created: Those who may and those who may not. Under these circumstances, the best that can be hoped for is that those who may include all who can and will. Since this is rarely the case, then the end result (in modern society) is usually the creation of another category—those who must.

ATTENTION ALL FARMERS AND INTERESTED PERSONS

The Scott County NFO is offering a public service to rural America. An educational seminar on bargaining in agriculture will be held on January 13 at the Legion Hall in Winchester. The seminar will start at 10:00 a.m. and conclude at 4:00 p.m.

Lunch will be served.

A trained representative of the national office of NFO at Corning, Iowa will conduct the seminar. This is not just a discussion on NFO. It is a detailed study on "Necessary Steps To Be Taken for Successful Bargaining in Agriculture".

This study is based on information from agricultural colleges and universities, United States Department of Agriculture and NFO research committees.

Some of the subjects this seminar will cover include: past history of marketing, present conditions in agriculture, strong and weak points in the present marketing structure, new economic factors in marketing, reasons for failure of past proposed solutions, REQUIREMENTS FOR A SUCCESSFUL MODERN DAY MARKETING STRUCTURE (one highlight of the seminar) and many other points of interest.

Then there will be a discussion of NFO objectives and goals, reasons for holding actions, and success to date including contracts with processors. There will be a period for questions and answers.

Take time to discuss what you need most in your business — A Way To Receive Fair Prices At The Market Place For Your Products.

JADE FOR A LADY

BY M. E. CHABER

THE STORY: Mito March tells Po Hing that he believes Po Hing sent Chan Chok How to kill him. Po Hing says that Chan once worked for him, but was not working for him the previous night. Chan was found dead in the river after the unsuccessful attempt to kill March.

XVIII

I was beginning to believe he was telling the truth.

"You are looking for some jade that was stolen in America?" he asked.

"And for the employer of Chan Chok How, when he tried to kill you last night?"

"And you think that one person might be the answer to both questions," he said. He gave me the smile again.

"Okay, I will look for that person. If I find him, I may tell you for a price."

"You mean," I said evenly, "if the price I offer is higher than you can get anywhere else?"

His smile became broader. "You are a man of the world. We will get along okay. I will send for you when I have something to sell."

It was a dismissal. I finished the drink in my glass and got up. The burly Chinese and I went out together. A few minutes later he dropped me off in front of my hotel. I walked into the lobby and spotted a familiar face. Jimmy Shan's.

"You are all right," he exclaimed, hurrying up to me. "I'm all right," I said. "But aren't you working over time?"

"I will not charge you for it," he said seriously. "I saw you picked up by one of Po Hing's men, and I could not leave until I knew you were all right."

"You saw me picked up? Where were you?"

"I just happened to be in the neighborhood. . . ."

"Just happened?" I said. "A likely story. And what did you do when you saw me picked up? Rush in and soothe your shattered nerves with a drink?"

"I waited to see what would happen. If you hadn't returned within a reasonable time, I would have called the police."

"That might have done me a lot of good. And what would you have done if the police arrived at Po Hing's too late?"

"I would have agreed," he said gravely, "with the poet Yuan Mei that 'In the casual life of meetings and partings there is much sadness to endure.'"

"Well," I said, "at least I get poetry for my money, if nothing else. But I'd still like to know how you just happened to be around here."

"I had come to tell you that I thought you were making a mistake."

"How?"

"This afternoon you walked in the Wantai District and mentioned the name of Po Hing. This might have made him very angry. But now it seems that he was not too angry."

"Isn't that nice?" I said. "I don't know what I'd do without you, Jimmy, but I'd like to find out. Good night, if that's not too much of a strain on your services."

"Good night," he said cheerfully, and left.

So I found out what I'd do.

without him. I called Linda McKay and went over to her apartment.

I was up the next morning at nine. While I was having my coffee, I phoned Frank Burney.

"Good morning," he said cheerfully. "Getting busy?"

"A little," I admitted. "I know you've only been on the job for one day and that isn't much time. But I'm not used to just sitting around, so I thought I'd get in touch."

"I do have one little thing for you. That Whitey Blake you asked about. My information is that he's been away, but is due back in Hong Kong today."

"Know what flight he'll be on?"

"Not yet, but I have a man digging on it. Should have something before long. I did learn that Blake is known as a sharp operator, but he's never been in any brush with the law here."

"Anything on jade thieves yet?"

"Not a whisper, but I've got all my lines out. Ought to have something in a few days."

"All right," I said. "We'll keep in touch."

I hung up and went back to my coffee. I had just finished it when there was a knock on the door. I looked at my watch and made a mental bet with myself.

"The door's unlocked," I called. "Come in, Jimmy."

The door opened. I was right. It was Jimmy Shan. There was a big smile on his face. I didn't return it. Maybe I was too impatient, but I was beginning to feel I had a lot of employees without any work getting done.

"I trust," I said, "that your smile means you have good news in addition to the fact that it's another day?"

Awful Spellers Buy 100,000 Of His Books

LONDON (AP) — The man who published the Awful Spellers Dictionary says his sales have been so good that he's going to publish a series of Awful Books.

"We have done phenomenally well with the dictionary for Awful Spellers," said Peter Wolfe. "It's now well on its way to 100,000 copies."

"All this has made us realize there is one incredible gap in publishing. Everyone seems to assume that people are either beginners, competent, or advanced in a subject."

"Since I'm so bad at so many things myself this is something very dear to my heart. So, I've commissioned a series of Awful Books designed specially for people who are bad at doing things."

The first three, to be published in March, will be called: The Awful Cook's Book, The Awful Dressmaker's Book, The Awful Handyman's Book.

"All these tell you what not to do and what, if anything, you can do if you've already made an awful mess of something," said Wolfe. The title and the concept may be funny, but the books themselves are deadly serious and we hope will be of use in an emergency when, for instance, the sponge cake goes flat, the pancakes have been ruined, or perhaps you have split the beautiful plank you've bought."

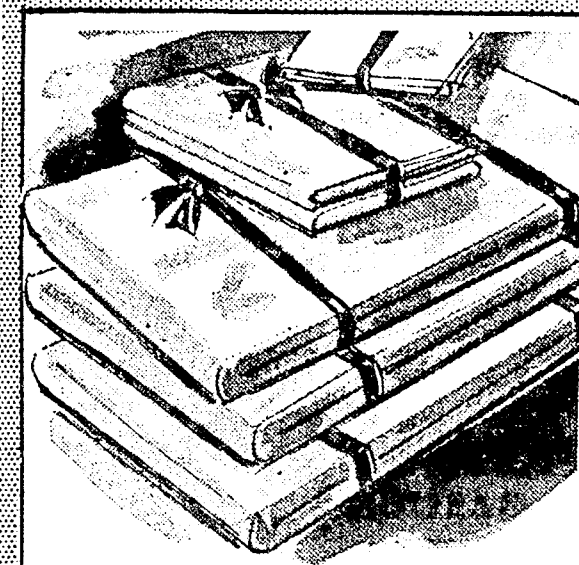

The Awful Spellers Dictionary was designed for those who spell so badly they can't find the words in an ordinary dictionary. The words are arranged phonetically. You look up a word the way it sounds. If you want to spell phenomenal, you look up fenominal.

INDICTED—Harry S. Stonehill, above, has been indicted on charges of conspiring to ship illegal cigarette-making equipment into the Philippines. Stonehill at one time was called the "One-Man Peace Corps" as a tribute to the network of industries he organized in the Philippines after the war. However, he was deported in 1962 following a political corruption scandal. (NEA Telephoto)

Sailor Wanted Farmers Given More Weather Data

By OVER A. MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau paid homage today to a sailor-scientist of the 19th century for devoting much of his lifetime to get the government to collect and disseminate weather information of benefit to farmers.

Honored in the bureau's weekly crop bulletin is Matthew Fontaine Maury, a Virginian who worked from the mid-1840s to the time of his death in 1874 to get a crop weather service started. It was not until a few years after his death that the service was inaugurated.

He was the first person, the bulletin said, to urge such reports on the governments of the United States and other nations.

Having spent his early years on a farm he reasoned that weather information, so useful to sea commerce, would be very beneficial in the business of producing the nation's crop. He felt that systematic collection of simultaneous weather and crop observations might lead to systems of crop forecasting that would allay the wide crop price speculations that often hurt producers.

Maury was the first head of the U.S. Navy's hydrographic office. In pushing for weather crop forecasting, he ran into opposition from other government agencies, including one commissioner of agriculture, and Congress.

"To the farmer of that age, plagued by winds and freezes, droughts and floods, Maury's pleadings sounded like a voice from heaven," the bulletin said. "He traveled to county fairs and farmers' conventions to plead his cause."

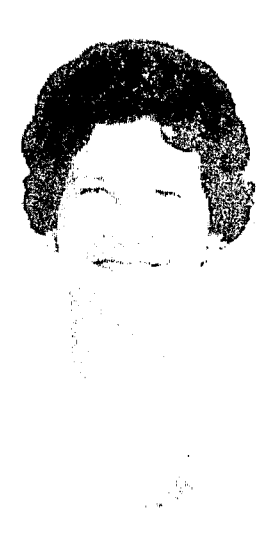

"If there ever was a case of a prophet without honor in his own country, it was Maury at that time. Yet abroad, his merits were better appreciated. A great urge for concerted efforts was felt among meteorologists in Europe. They had learned, especially in the small countries, that little could be accomplished by local observations alone."

The bureau said that only in this era, a century later, are the remainder of Maury's suggestions emerging from the discussion stage. He saw clearly the interaction of ocean and atmosphere. He anticipated the need for a world weather watch, which has now become an action program of the World Meteorological Organization. His scheme of weather and crop reporting was envisaged as the means toward stabilization of world agricultural production and prices and as an aid in an early "freedom from hunger" campaign — a theme now eagerly pursued by the United Nations.

Now Build 'Secure Rooms' to Foil Spies

By ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — A few years ago, in a capital behind the Iron Curtain, State Department security experts found a microphone in the home of an American foreign service officer.

The diplomat, a young man recently married, was outraged: the mike was neatly embedded in the electric fixture right above the couple's bed. The unpleasant discovery made him cautious. He became a believer in peripatetic conversation, taking his visitors into his garden whenever he had something to discuss not intended for Communist ears.

Winters are severe in Eastern Europe and not all his guests liked this exercise. Then, one day, the security people told the diplomat he might as well forget about this habit as the Communists had mounted a "big ear," a transistor eavesdropping device, on a hill opposite his house. This device, if properly tuned in, can pick up conversations blocks away.

This, and dozens of similar incidents, remained uncanceled. The policy in Washington is that there is no use in talking about such incidents unless circumstances force the administration to talk.

"It is part of the game," a security officer said recently. "Big brother wants to listen when we talk—and we try to prevent him, if we can." The question is, can they? The State Department, officials claim, is doing its best. There are now "secure rooms" in every embassy behind the Iron Curtain, to be used for confidential discussions and conferences. These rooms, actually rooms within rooms, are described as espionage-proof. They are built exclusively by Americans, using elements prefabricated in the United States, and the rooms are constantly guarded.

The State Department keeps about 100 security officers permanently overseas, including an undisclosed number of technical experts trained specifically in the art of detecting hidden microphones and other unwelcome listening devices. The security officers are stationed at three regional offices: in Frankfurt, Tokyo and Panama, and from there they make regular rounds visiting every diplomatic post in their area, searching with their complicated equipment for "big brother's ears."

The rule not to speak about such findings cannot be always observed. In some cases Washington must speak about these cloak-and-dagger operations, usually when the administration knows that the story has been leaked and would be made public anyway.

There was one notable, and most dramatic exception, in May 1960, when Henry Cabot Lodge, then U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, showed the Security Council a hand-carved wooden eagle, copy of the Great Seal of the United States, with what he called a listening device inside.

The eagle was a Russian present to W. Averell Harriman, the American Ambassador to Moscow in 1945. It was mounted in Harriman's study in Spasso House, the ambassadorial residence. The device was discovered in 1951, when George Kennan was the envoy, and the eagle was quietly removed. Public disclosure came when Lodge used the eagle to rebut Soviet attacks in the United Nations after the celebrated U2 case.

To display the eagle at last was, of course, a policy decision. "Short of building the embassies ourselves, which, of course, is impossible, we can never be sure," officials concede.

In addition to regular check-up by experts, every foreign service officer sent abroad, whether ambassador or junior officer, is regularly reminded that he must always act on the assumption that somebody is listening. This, it is conceded, makes intelligent conversation difficult.

Make up a batch of chutney from apples or canned fruit: this relish is not only a "must" for a curried dish, but it gives a fillip to sandwiches — toasted cheese, ham and other cold meats, turkey and chicken.

HEADS OR TAILS?—Actually, it is both, and both parts belong to the same dog. It seems that Nip used to howl when his master closed the gate. So his Wolverhampton, England, owner cut a special hole in the gate so that Nip could see what was going on on the other side.

I ran into my old acquaintance "Hard Luck Joe" recently and as usual he had a tale of woe ready for my unwilling ears.

It wasn't bad enough that he had made an unfortunate play that cost him a rubber, but it seems that his partner had criticized him severely and he was looking for sympathy.

I sympathized with his loss, but could not help but feel that Joe had made the wrong play as usual.

He was sitting East and had won the first two tricks with the ace and king of hearts. Then he had led his singleton diamond, whereupon declarer had won that trick, cashed the ace and king of spades and conceded one trick to Joe's queen. As West pointed out, if Joe had led a club the defense would have made a club trick also.

Joe contended that the club play would only be successful if West would turn up with either king-queen or king-ten of clubs and the jack of spades and would lose any time West held the diamond ace and no spade jack.

Joe was closer to being right than he is most of the time but his play was bad. Even if West did not hold the jack of spades, there was no guarantee that South would finesse successfully for Joe's queen. Furthermore, if West held the king of clubs and not the ten, there was also no guarantee that South would make the right play in clubs. Joe had opened the bidding and might well have the club king as part of his opening.

Clan Snaps Loss Skein, Nips Augie

By DAVE INGLES

MacMurray spurred to an early lead over Augustana Friday night, and hung on for a 64-59 triumph that snapped a three game losing streak. Led by senior forward Tom Zurkammer, the Highlanders broke open a tight contest in the early minutes, and surged to a 16-7 advantage with six minutes gone.

Throughout the remainder of the game the Clan held the lead, always able to rally when the Vikings closed in.

George Strombom, who led the visitors with 19, set a new career mark for an Augustana player when he tallied on a layup with 4:27 remaining in the first half. The bucket put him over the old Augie mark of 1076 points set by Dale Schweinberger in 1955-59. Strombom, a senior from Sycamore, finished the game with 1092 career points, and each additional score this year will be graven in the record book for him.

Zurkammer led the Clan scoring with 22, tallying 14 in the first half. The remaining points were evenly divided among the Highlanders with only one other Mac man breaking into double figures, sophomore guard Chuck Hundley with 11.

With the lead to their advantage, the Highlanders matched Augustana's slow style game in the second half as the Vikings seemed to be in no hurry to catch up. The first ten minutes of the final period saw the count advance from the 37-28 intermission margin to only 44-33 midway through the half.

Flurry Of Fouls
The final minutes of the game produced a flurry of fouls on the part of both teams and ran the total of personals up to 47 for the contest. Both squads were highly inaccurate from the charity stripe during this period, with MacMurray missing 10 from the line while Augustana missed cashing in on 6 free tosses.

Zurkammer broke a 7-7 tie with 4:12 played in the opening half on a jumper from the side to give Mac a 9-7 edge and the Highlanders were on their way. A free toss and a layup by Hundley, and another jump shot and a drive by Zurkammer soared the Clan to a quick 9 point margin before Augustana broke its cold spell.

MacMurray's widest margin in the half came on a layup by center Dennis Beard with 7:57 to play that gave the Clan a 25-12 lead. The Vikings cut the edge to 7 at 33-26 on a pair of free throws by Gene Utke with 1:44 remaining, but another Zurkammer pumper and two charity throws upped the lead to 11 points again before Strombom drove in to make the count 37-28 at the halftime gun.

Beard Fouls Out
Beard fouled out with 2:31 left in the game and the score reading 58-48 in Mac's favor, and from there on the Clan did not score from the field. The parade from one free throw line to the other began and the Highlanders were content to control the ball. Augustana was never closer than 6 points to the hosts until the final court.

The win brought Mac's season mark up to 3-6, while the Vikings dropped to the .500 mark at 4-4. Augustana is at Millikin in a CCI contest to night, and MacMurray hosts McKendree in the Fieldhouse in a game scheduled for 8 p.m.

BEARDSTOWN — Beardstown led for three and a half quarters here Friday night only to drop a narrow 63-60 Midwest conference margin to Unity of Mendon.

Grange Admires Namath, Recalls His Own Story

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Red Grange, pro football's first $100,000-a-year commodity, has nothing but admiration and sympathy for Alabama's Joe Namath.

"I shudder when I think of all the punishment that boy is going to have to take," the legendary Galloping Ghost of the Golden Twenties said Friday.

"I think it's wonderful that he got that $400,000 contract with the New York Jets, but I'm not sure what the reaction will be with the rest of the squad and the league."

"I know in my case I didn't have trouble with my teammates, but the other teams — well, they almost killed me," Grange, now a grayling but well-conditioned man of 60, still winces when he talks about his early days as a pro.

"I signed with the Chicago Bears right after I finished my last season at Illinois in 1925," he said. "I had a contract which called for a percentage of every game plus other benefits. I was guaranteed $100,000."

"I remember we played 17 games between Thanksgiving and including Feb. 1 — eight games in 11 days. We drew 60,000 with the Giants in New York, 80,000 in Los Angeles. "At the end of that span I had more than $100,000, but not a bone in my body that didn't ache like the mischief."

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — All-America pass-catcher Fred Metz, c 1 3 2 4 Bilenikoff married classmate Geri O'Conner in a 10-minute ceremony under the goal post at the Florida State University football stadium Thursday.

It was the site of some of Bilenikoff's finest catches when he teamed with Steve Tensi to make one of the deadliest passing combinations in college football.

This catch, a 22-year-old senior business education major from Daytona Beach, was dressed all in white. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses with garnet ribbons and trimmings, FSU's colors.

Dosh Downs Tigers 78-62 In PMSC

By AL KOCH

The ISD Tigers dropped a PMSC contest here Friday evening to a long-shooting Meredosias five, 78-62, who were paced by forward Joe Evans who dumped through 22 tallies, and guard Tom Grisham, who hit a slightly lesser 20-point total.

For the losing Tigers, it was forward Mike Hummel, who again led the ISD scoring ranks with a game high total of 23 markers.

Forward Walter Niesluchowski aided the Tiger cause with 14 tallies, while forward Ray Richardson netted 16 in the defeat.

The first three periods of the game were a runaway for the Indians, but behind the hot fourth-quarter shooting of Hummel and Niesluchowski, and a fine rebounding job by Ray Richardson, the Tigers came storming back, to cut a one-time thirty point lead to within 16 points.

Meredosia opened the ball game with a side set shot by standout Grisham, who plagued the Tiger defense with his far-out accuracy throughout the ball game.

Richardson help up the loose ends of the first quarter for the Tigers with six tallies, to bring the first frame score to read, Meredosias 21-11.

In the second half, the Indian attack blasted away at their nets, to come up with a 42-25 halftime reading in their favor.

The third quarter was once again Meredosias's, as Niesluchowski and Richardson were the only two Tigers to offer their conference rivals any opposition in the way of scoring. By the end of the third frame, Meredosias had piled up a 65-40 margin.

Fourth quarter play saw Hummel come alive, with a total of 10 tallies. Niesluchowski added an additional four points, and teammate Richardson hit two buckets late in the period to aid the winning bid.

With 4:29 remaining in the last period, Hummel cut the Indian lead to 16 points, on a basket-free throw combination. Meredosias was not to be counted out though, despite the Tiger surge, as forward Evans pumped in long shots to maintain the victory margin.

For the game, Meredosias connected on 31 of their 76 field goal attempts for 40% average, while the losing Tigers hit only 22 of 61 tries, for a 36% mark.

Friday's loss leaves ISD with a 1-7 overall season record.

Lane Wins Suit Worth $113,000 From A's Owner

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's much-traveled Frank Lane won a $113,000 settlement Friday in federal court from Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, who fired Lane after a stormy short term as general manager of the baseball club.

Lane had sued for $144,166 which he said represented unpaid salaries in a $25,000-per-year, eight-season contract he signed with the A's Feb. 15, 1961. Lane was fired by Finley Aug. 26, 1961.

After 1½ days of closed chamber conferences, the jury trial ended with Judge James B. Parsons announcing that Finley agreed to pay $100,000 for Lane's contracted services from 1965 to 1968 and $13,000 for previous services.

The agreement freed Lane of any obligation in services to Finley and permits him to seek future baseball employment.

WINCHESTER — In an overtime period here Friday night, the Carrollton Hawks squeaked past the Winchester Wildcats, 49-48, on a bucket by guard Bob Brannan made in the last :07 of the overtime period.

Ed Hindelang of the Hawks led the regulation game on a turnaround jump shot from his center spot, with only :15 left in the fourth period.

Hindelang paced the Carrollton attack with 22 tallies, while center Rex Brockhouse of the Wildcats hit 15 markers in the heart-breaking loss.

Winchester took a slight first quarter lead, 8-5, and had the lead cut to two points at the half, as Carrollton came to within a 21-19 halftime reading.

The Wildcat offense proved potent in the third period, as it thwarted various attempts by the Hawks to take possession of the lead, and ended up on top, 44-41, at the end of the third frame.

In the fourth quarter, Carrollton came from behind to outscore their Illinois Valley conference rivals by a 15-10 final period total. This was precisely enough to tie the regulation game at 45 points apiece.

It was Brannan who iced the unsure victory for the Hawks, as he pushed through the winning point with only seven seconds left in the single overtime period.

By virtue of the win, Carrollton now holds an unblemished 2-0 IVC record, while the losing Wildcats own an even 1-1 conference slate, and a 5-3 overall season record.

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Paul Runge, 23, son of veteran American league umpire, Ed Runge, accepted an offer Friday to become an umpire in the Class A California League this year.

Casanova Quits Coaching Staff For Hula Bowl

HONOLULU (AP) — Len Casanova of Oregon, president of the American Football Coaches Association, quit the staff of the North team in Friday night's Hula Bowl game several hours before the kickoff in protest to the use of two Oklahoma players who signed premature pro contracts.

The two players are Jim Grisham, a 210-pound back, and Ralph Neely, a 260-pound tackle. They and two other Sooners players were kept out of the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., last week by Gomer Jones, Oklahoma coach, when they admitted having made pro commitments earlier.

Grisham and Neely at first were declared ineligible for the game here, too, but later were returned to the roster, possibly under pressure.

In New York, Commissioner Pete Rozelle of the National Football League said his organization had applied no pressure. It was reported here that Dallas, the NFL club which has Jerry Rhone of Tulsa and Craig Morton of California under contract, ordered Hula Bowl officials to use Neely or also bench the two other Cowboy prospects. They are the rival starting quarterbacks here.

Neely originally signed with Houston of the American Football League, then signed a second pact with Dallas. Grisham signed with the Minnesota Vikings, also an NFL team.

Tex Schramm, general manager of the Cowboys, denied any such edict but did say "we were displeased when we heard they were considering barring Neely penalized enough."

Casanova left here for Chicago and the annual NCAA convention. The coaches' group meets in conjunction with the larger organization.

The Oregon coach said he pulled out of the assignment here "in deference to Gomer Jones." He added that he could not continue here in good conscience.

Carlenville Halts Feitshans In 3rd, Nab 56-50 Win

CARLINVILLE — Carlenville, behind a fourth quarter surge, avenged a previous defeat at the hands of Feitshans here Friday night, claiming a 56-50 South Central conference victory.

Down 40-38, after leading at the close of the first half, Carlenville caught the Flyers at 40-40 and went ahead to stay. Feitshans tied the score once in the fourth period but were never able to take the lead.

High-scoring Sherill Williams of Feitshans went to the sidelines in the third period on five personals and 18 points.

The Cavaliers jumped into a 15-8 first quarter command on the strength of Ron Snidle's 6 points and Ron Young's 5 markers.

Feitshans, using a press, committed several fouls in the first half, but regrouped at the intermission and stormed back to take the 40-38 third period edge.

Williams, Hale and Stillwagon all fouled out in the second half, crimping the Flyers chances.

Williams had hit nine in the Flyers third period surge.

Feitshans previously defeated Carlenville 51-40 earlier in the season, in which Williams was high with 18.

PAWNEE — The Franklin Flashes boosted themselves to an 8-2, overall mark and an unblemished 5-0 MSM conference record, by downing Pawnee, 51-42, here Friday night.

The first quarter proved to be the winning margin, as Franklin utilized a pressing defense to garner an 18-8 first frame margin.

Forward Dana Caldwell of the Flashes went into foul trouble early in the game, but snagged 15 important rebounds before he left game action shortly after the half.

Franklin hit an impressive 45% of their field goal attempts during the first half of the game, but cooled off to a 30% clip for the latter half of the action.

Second period activity saw Franklin edge the Indians by a single point, 10-9, for a 28-17 halftime margin.

The Pawnee five controlled things in the third frame, accumulating a 14-10 edge over the Franklin outfit.

Crimsons Win 10th And Sixth Straight

By BUFORD GREEN

Jacksonville racked up its tenth victory of the season Friday night, racing to a sizeable first-half margin then holding off a late Canton rally for a 66-55 non-conference triumph over the hot-shooting Little Giants.

While getting only six points in the first half, guard Creston Whitaker threw in 19 in the second 16 minutes for a 25-point evening, while forwards Dennis Wegehoff and Ron Coleman carried the Jacks the opening two quarters.

The victory was the Crimsons' sixth straight since December, and marked only the fourth loss for Canton, which was previously topped by Deane Fricke-Hower, all high school teams.

A definite superiority off the boards provided the Jacks with room to operate, as the taller Crimsons owned a 27-15 difference in the rebounding department. Canton's two tallest players were sidelined with an injury and a case of the flu for most of the game.

The Crimsons jumped into command from the start although not looking as good as they did in winning the Carbondale Tournament two weeks ago. Staying in front all the way, the Jacks put down three Little Giant threats in the closing half, including a serious one in the final three minutes.

The game was marred by 41 fouls whistled, which put four players, three from Canton, out with five personals.

Outshot From Field
For the game Jacksonville hit 45% on 23 of 50 attempts, while Canton clipped along at a hot 50% rate on 21 of 42 tries, getting most of their points from past 15 feet.

Again JHS was hurt at the charity stripe, hitting just over half of their attempts on 20 of 38 chances, but still held a 20-13 difference from the 15-foot range.

Canton got one chance to close the gap to six before Wegehoff rebounded his own missed shot for two points and Dennis Sergeant connected on one of two from the gift line to wran the game up.

Jacksonville is now 10-1 in the campaign, protecting its state prep ranking in the top ten, while Canton dropped to 7-4 on the year.

Franklin's 51-42 margin was the largest in the MSM conference since the 1949-50 season, when the Yankees won five straight pennants under Casey Stengel—1949-1954. ## Pleasant Hill Nips North Greene 53-50

PLEASANT HILL — A fired-up Pleasant Hill bucket squad handed the North Greene Spartans their second loss in eleven starts, by downing their Illinois Valley conference foes, 53-50.

Center Randy Hubbard led the victorious Wolves with a 23 tally game high total, while scoring ace Charles Martin pumped through 21 markers in the close match.

North Greene stuck with its five starters, while the Wolves squeezed two extras into the scoring ranks.

The Spartans rolled off to a slight, 8-6, first quarter edge, but Pleasant Hill came back in the second stanza to out do their rivals, 20-17, at the half.

The Wolves continued their leading ways in the third frame, leading the North Greene crowd, 30-17, at 14-10.

In the fourth quarter, the Wolves fouled out forward Terry Johnson, guard Larry Moore, and top scorer Hubbard, but held on to their earlier margin for the win.

The Spartans poured on the steam in the closing seconds, but it was three points shy of leaders, who posted the 53-50 final and garnered their first IVC victory without a loss.

North Greene now holds a 1-1 IVC record.

Card Regulars Dissatisfied With Contracts

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A number of regulars on the St. Louis Cardinals have made it clear they are dissatisfied with the money they have been offered for bringing a world baseball championship to St. Louis. Not one has signed a contract for 1965.

The front office mailed contracts to 39 players two weeks ago.

"I intend to be fair in dealing with the players," said General Manager Bob Howsam. "I hope they feel the same way."

Such standouts as Ken Boyer, Bob Gibson, Dick Groat, Curt Simmons and Lou Brock are not so sure.

Gibson, a right-hander who won 19 games last season and two more against the New York Yankees in the World Series, called his contract "ridiculous."

The Cardinals reportedly offered him a $2,000 raise.

Boyer, voted the league's most valuable player in 1964, reportedly is thinking of a salary in the vicinity of $75,000. He presently draws about $50,000.

Bluejays Escape With 64-62 Edge

PETERSBURG — Porta stayed off a late Balby upset bid on a bucket by Wayne Jones in the final 30 seconds for a narrow 64-62 non-league margin here Friday evening.

Balby led 17-16 after eight minutes, but Porta took a 32-29 halftime lead. The visitors came back to tie it in the third quarter.

Jones bucket in the last :30 broke a 62-62 deadlock and Balby was unable to score again.

Jones' 18 and Ron Dowell's 15 led the winners, while Greg Fletcher hit 18 to tie for game honors.

Porta is now 7-4 on the campaign.

NCAA Meeting Tackles Problem Of Players Signing Pro Contracts

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association may lean more toward friendly persuasion than retaliation in tackling the problem of premature pro football signings, its top spokesman indicated Friday.

The 59th NCAA convention opened Friday with scattered preliminary meetings. The more than 3,000 delegates get down to official business when the conclave opens formally Monday.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said three "meaningful matters" were on the convention program which hits a climax with next Wednesday's voting session.

How to handle the freshly-aggravated problem of sneak pro signings of collegiate football seniors is one.

The other two top agenda items, Byers said, concern the NCAA policy "on cooperative sanctioning of outside competition" — a tame description of the raging feud between the NCAA and the AAU — and a minimum academic standard for NCAA-sponsored competitions.

Good Attitude
Although some collegiate leaders are coming here with sparks a-flying over premature pro signing of collegians, Byers displayed a conciliatory attitude.

"Personally, I'm not convinced that retaliation is the course to take," said Byers. "The course may be the first step — let's try to get the pros together for a reasonable solution."

"The obvious solution is getting the pros to refrain from drafting a boy until his eligibility is ended. My first choice would be a June drafting deadline, which obviously would not be practical for the pros. But it certainly should be after the first of the year to avoid the bowl mess we have just seen."

The 1964 draft was held by both the National and American Football Leagues on Nov. 28. The situation became an issue when it was disclosed four Oklahoma players signed pro contracts before the Sooner-Florida State Gator Bowl game.

Athletic Director Jim Corbett of Louisiana State, chairman of the NCAA committee on college-professional relations, Friday promised "a remedy to this situation" when his group meets Sunday.

Pro Grid Expose To Shake Sport

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The Birmingham News said Friday that the National Collegiate Athletic Association "will set off an explosion shaking football from top to bottom" when it studies the signing of college players by professional teams.

The NCAA, meeting in Chicago this weekend, is expected to take a stand on the controversial issue of early signing of the gridiron stars.

The News, in an article by sports editor Benny Marshall, said: "The widespread pro football practice of paying college assistant coaches to help with scouting will be exposed."

"It will be charged that negotiations between professional teams and athletes have been handled by college coaches paid to represent the pros."
